German Reds Ask Ruthless Purge Of Party Ranks

BERLIN (AP)—The leadership of the German Communists in the Russian zone publicly stated today that widespread "anti-Soviet elements" had been discovered in party ranks and demanded a ruthless purge, even if it reached in upper circles.

Special articles on this were carried, said Deutschland, official organ of the Soviet-sponsored, Communist-controlled Socialist Unity Party. The articles were signed by Communist Wilhelm Pieck, party chairman, and other leaders.

ATTACK COMPLAINERS

They chastised those who repeat anti-Soviet propaganda members who grumble about poor economic conditions and "parasites" in the public administrations.

Publication of Communist Party purge demands were interpreted by Allied observers here as further evidence of political and economic unrest in the Russian zone.

Previous hints and official disclosures that such conditions exist in eastern Germany have indicated food shortage difficulties and production lags.

Taxes To Be Cut Soon As Justified Abbott Tells People

MONTREAL (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott, speaking at a centenary meeting of St. Stephen's Anglican Church here, reiterated his statement that taxes will be reduced by the federal government as soon as circumstances justify the move.

He said present taxes are "very high" despite a 51-per cent reduction since the end of the war. He added that the bulk of the voters must pay for additional social services and pursuit of an adequate defence program—particularly in view of the present world situation.

"When one looks at the world today, one realizes a real effort must be made to reduce the national debt while we have the funds to do it," Mr. Abbott said.

Red Expansion Will Recede If Allies Firm, Says Clay

BERLIN (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay feels "Soviet expansion will not only be halted, it will recede," if the western powers continue their firm stand in Berlin.

The remarks by the United States commander in Germany were in a speech made public Thursday night by a responsible source close to Clay. The speech was made privately Sept. 28 to delegates of the British Parliamentary Conference who visited Berlin.

Clay said lasting peace in Europe could be attained if the western powers refuse to yield to the Russians. He said the rise of democratic forces and economic recovery in western Europe would create pressure against Soviet domination in the satellite countries.

Lands On Highway In Ontario—Only Damage Is To Wheel And Propeller

Passing motorists on the Temiskaming highway, near North Bay, Ont., are shown slowing up to have a look at this light plane, which was forced down when it developed engine trouble. The pilot swerved off the highway in order to avoid an automobile. One wheel was broken and the propeller was damaged. Otherwise the owner still had a serviceable aircraft. (S.N.S. Photo.)

Former Officer Scores Handling Of Hall Issue

The wound over the suspension of Frank Hall and his Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, healed earlier in the convention, broke out anew at the Trades and Labor Congress meeting here today when Arthur D'Aoust, former T.L.C. vice-president, criticized the handling of the issue.

Mr. D'Aoust blamed Percy Bengough, president of the T.L.C. for precipitating the battle, said Mr. Bengough failed to consult his executive adequately and disagreed with Mr. Bengough that only minor T.L.C. constitution amendments were necessary.

The former Quebec vice-president, who declined to stand for re-election Thursday because he was not in accord with the T.L.C. executive's handling of the Hall issue, told the convention "it was time we adopted a workable constitution."

He said provision should be made in the constitution for handling charges against members in writing and to permit an accused member to be heard by the executive.

"As a member of the executive

I insisted Frank Hall should be brought before the executive," he said, adding the present provision was unfair and should be amended.

In international unions, he said, charges must be made in writing and heard by the union. The accused then, he continued, had a series of appeals to the union president, to the executive committee and finally to the union's convention.

The constitution was also not clear, he said, on the suspension of unions by the convention, in one place saying a majority was needed.

"There was no chance for a man to defend his case," he said. "It was not done in accord with justice."

The flare-up came during consideration of a committee report providing for the executive to undertake constitutional revisions. The report was adopted.

The Hall issue had appeared cleaned up as far as the convention was concerned when the executive's action in suspending Mr. Hall and his union was endorsed and the union reinstated. This was done Wednesday.

Mandatory Provision Removed

The debate continued at a new tangent with a further recommendation of the committee urging amendment of the constitution so that it would not be mandatory to accept American Federation of Labor unions into the T.L.C.

The question of admitting A.F.L. unions was obscured in constitution section under which the congress rejected the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) in favor of the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.). Mr. Hall and his union was suspended for backing the S.I.U.

Harvey Russell, Toronto, argued that the convention should make it obligatory for any national or international union to be affiliated.

J. Murray, of the Brotherhood of Carmen, London, claimed that the congress should not be led astray by some high-paid officers. R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director of United Textile Workers, contended that the congress should not be forced to accept unions conflicting with recognized T.L.C. organizations.

Harry Simon of Toronto, A.F.L. organizer, said the proposal would give the T.L.C. the right to discriminate against international unions.

"This would be deviating from years of practice in international unionism," he said.

The committee's report was adopted.

B.C. By-Elections Set For Nov. 29

By-elections will be held Nov. 29 to name members of the Provincial Legislature in the Rossland-Trail and South Okanagan ridings.

"Announcement of the date was made by Acting Premier Herbert Anscomb today following a meeting of the provincial cabinet.

Nomination day in both cases will be Nov. 22.

By-elections were made necessary through the death of the Liberal member for Rossland-Trail, James Webster, and the resignation of the Conservative member for South Okanagan, W. A. C. Bennett.

Mr. Bennett resigned to run for a seat in the federal government. He was defeated.

Returning officers in the by-elections will be John A. McLeod of Rossland and Harvey L. Wilson, Summerland.

Minister Denies 4 French Immigrants Nazi Henchmen

OTTAWA (CP)—Resources Minister MacKinnon said today he was "certain" there was "nothing" to the charge that four French citizens allowed to remain in Canada by cabinet action had been wartime Nazi collaborators.

"I don't believe they were," he told the Canadian Press.

The charge to which he referred was an allegation in some government quarters here that the men had collaborated with the Nazis in France during the war. These sources expressed belief the men, now living in Quebec province, had been convicted by the French government in absentia on collaboration charges.

Italy Attempting To Forestall Red Threat Of Strike

ROME (AP)—The Italian government, faced with a Communist threat of a general strike, attempted today to forestall imminent walkouts by transport workers and movie operators.

A strike of bus, short-haul railroad, streetcar and ferryboat operators has been set for Monday.

The Labor Ministry called representatives of the union and the municipally-owned transport systems to a meeting today to try to reopen negotiations. The breakdown of negotiations brought the Monday strike call.

More than 1,000,000 government employees, most of whom left their jobs for varying periods Thursday in a token strike, were back at work today.

TORONTO (CP)—A. B. Mosher of Ottawa today was re-elected president of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

City Will Call Tenders To Finish Job Subject To By-Law On Funds

British Miners Close To Split On Communism

LONDON (CP)—Britain's National Union of Mineworkers edged close today to a split on the Communist issue. A battle of words between its two top leaders crystallized the conflict as one between the Marshall Plan and the Cominform.

Will Lawther, anti-Communist N.U.M. president, charged that Arthur Horner, Communist union secretary-general, ignored N.U.M. policy in a Paris speech Wednesday.

Horner was fraternal delegate to a convention of the Communist-led French Confederation Generale du Travail. He told the C.G.T. British miners would support French coal strikers.

ACTION DEMANDED

The Times of London demanded action by the Trades Union Congress to declare Communists in top union jobs a danger.

Lawther, a Labor Party member, said in a statement today any declaration by Horner in Paris should have been in line "with the policy of the N.U.M., which is to support European recovery and, consequently the Marshall Plan."

"I regard the present situation in France, including the strike in the mining industry, as a Communist-inspired movement to sabotage the recovery of the country," Lawther said.

Youths Get 2 Years For Grocery Theft

John "Blackie" Kane and Frank Cross, no fixed address, were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

The pair had pleaded guilty, together with Thomas F. Buckle 217 Cook Street, and Earl S. Cooper, to charges of breaking and entering and committing theft at Balmoral Grocery, 1024 Finlayson Avenue, Oct. 3.

Buckle and Cooper received six months imprisonment with hard labor.

Case of a fifth youth charged in the case, a juvenile, is pending while attempts to have it moved back to juvenile court are being made.

It was pointed out by the magistrate that Cross had been released from Oakalla Jail Sept. 25.

J. G. Rutan appeared for Cooper, and Sinclair Elliott for Buckle. Both made pleas for leniency.

Kane was remanded till Saturday to obtain counsel when a second charge of breaking and entering and committing theft was read against him.

He is charged with stealing cigarettes from Sones' Grocery, 1388 Gladstone Avenue, Oct. 5.

Realign Franc

PARIS (Reuter)—The French government decided this afternoon to realign the existing exchange rates of the franc as from Monday next, it was reliably learned tonight. The new alignment puts the pound sterling at about 1,060 francs. The current rate is about 864 to the pound.

Work will stop on Victoria's Memorial Ice Arena early next week.

Costs of construction have been considerably higher than the original estimate of $317,755, and as a result, there is not enough money to complete the arena.

Such was a portion of the statement issued by Ald. Waldo Skillings, chairman of the arena committee, following a meeting this morning in Mayor Percy George's office at City Hall.

Attending the meeting were: Mayor George, Ald. D. D. McTavish, a member of the committee; C. T. Hamilton, consulting engineer on the arena project from Vancouver; J. W. Oosterink, city building inspector; D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller; Henry Watson, assistant city comptroller and A. J. Patton, city solicitor.

The decision to stop working pending "preparation of proper specifications and plans required for the work still to be done,"

Chairman Issues Statement

Ald. Skillings' statement follows in full:

Owing to the fact that satisfactory estimates are impossible to obtain in the time required and while work is in progress, and, as any such estimates must of necessity be doubtful and haphazard, it is therefore felt that the only safe way to arrive at the final cost of the arena is to stop work, prepare the proper specifications and plans required for the work still to be done, and call for firm tenders in Victoria and Vancouver, subject only to the necessary funds being provided through a further money bill.

There are many people, including myself, as chairman of the arena committee since January of this year, who have been opposed to the decision taken by the City Council of 1947, whereby the completion of the job would be done by the city on a day work basis. In justification of this decision taken by last year's council, it should be pointed out that we did not have proper plans and specifications which would have made it possible to call for tenders and a delay of three months would have resulted before a contract could be let.

Why it was not possible for proper plans and specifications to have been ready, I do not understand. The fact is, that they were not ready and the council decided that there should be no delay.

In attempting to carry out the completion of the job on a day work basis, the council was guided by an estimate of $317,755 subject to Bennett and White extras and contingencies, made by the consulting engineer.

Not Enough Money On Hand

Costs of construction have been considerably higher than this estimate and as a result there is not enough money on hand to complete the arena.

The decision has been taken, therefore, to abandon the day work method of completing the job, and in taking this action, the City Council hopes to enlist the support of all those who have been criticizing what has gone before.

Tenders will be called for the remaining work, with the lowest bidder to receive the contract award and the city will stop all work, except that being carried out under sub-contract.

Our main concern is that the job shall be finished. All those who have criticized the handling of this project must agree with that objective, as an unfinished Memorial Arena would be a tragedy and a disgrace to Victoria.

We therefore hope and trust that the citizens of Victoria will support this reversal of policy and will endorse the efforts of the council, to ascertain the exact cost of finishing the job and the raising of the necessary funds to pay for the work which remains to be done.

U.N. Social Body Told Reds Keep Millions In Slavery

PARIS (Reuter)—Christopher Mayhew of Britain today charged Russia with maintaining a "slave system."

Evidence led one to support, he told the United Nations' social committee, that "a slave system without parallel in history" exists in the Soviet Union.

He was answering Soviet accusations that British subjects suffered from exhaustion and death in the colonies.

"No representative of the Soviet Union has the moral right to make these charges," he said. "Hunger and exhaustion are imposed on armies of forced workers in the Soviet Union as a result of deliberate state policy."

Evidence, he said, both from official documents and from sources outside the Soviet Union showed that many millions of Soviet workers lived in "wretchedness and undernourishment" under the cloak of having committed crimes against the regime. Soviet Delegate Andrei Pavlov sat impassively throughout one of the bitterest attacks yet made on the Soviet Union.

Mayhew said it appeared that somewhere between 5,000,000 and 15,000,000 forced workers were collected in camps all over the Soviet Union.

"If we pitch it as low as 5,000,000 that means that about 2½ per cent of the population of the Soviet Union are slaves compared with 0.13 per cent in Czarist days."

Berlin Hears Guns

BERLIN (AP)—Rumbling sounds which U.S. authorities said might have been caused by Russian artillery practice were heard in Berlin today.

Col. Robert Willard, U.S. troop commander in the city, said the sounds might have come from Soviet army manoeuvres in the Russian occupation zone around Berlin.

R.A.F. airmen at Catow airport, on the west of Berlin, heard the firing for three hours and said it definitely was artillery fire.

Chaperoned By Commies On Niagara Visit

By Oksana S. Kasenkina (Edited by ISAAC DON LEVINE and Copyright, 1948, by King Features Syndicate Inc.)

DURING my second year in the United States the social boycott of me took on the character of an organized cat-and-mouse game. My independent spirit as evidence by my failure to fall in with the lickspittles around the Soviet functionaries and by my occasional outbursts in defense of American ways and things made me the object of growing persecution.

To this day, I do not know why I was not sent back home early in 1947, unless it was due to the praise bestowed upon me for work well done by such personages as Madame Gromyko and General Vassiliev, of the Soviet military mission, whose children were in my classes.

The campaign to provoke me so that I put my foot in a trap went as far as dropping valuables in my path, in the hope that I would steal them in good Communist style. But I would invariably return the finds, and complained to the director against these despicable tactics. He would shrug his shoulders and take no action.

Rooms Were Searched

I COLLECTED dress patterns, in addition to botanical specimens which I carefully mounted. Frequently I found all these messed up by a mysterious hand which had obviously ransacked all the drawers in my chest, without even bothering to put the contents in order. Whenever I complained to the director, he hinted that this might be the work of the United States secret police.

Another form of attack in the psychological warfare waged against me was the question fired at me now and then, "Why don't you ever write letters back home?" Not to be pestered too much I would once in a while pen such a letter and leave it lying around unsealed. I knew that it would be pounced upon and thought, "All right, let the fools gloat over it."

In the summer of 1947 I was given two weeks' vacation. I went to Vice-Consul Sorokin and asked for permission to go to Niagara Falls. It was unthinkable for a Soviet teacher to take a trip without dispensation. For a natural science teacher to want to see one of the wonders of the world seemed reasonable enough.

TO SPEAK HERE — Eric W. Morse, national secretary of the United Nations Association in Canada, will be in Victoria between Nov. 3 and 6. He is expected to address the Canadian Club, Women's Canadian Club and a special meeting of the Victoria Branch, United Nations Association, during his three-day visit.

Yet Sorokin suggested that I go in company with another colleague, Nikonova, who was likeable though a Communist. This was agreeable, and I asked: "When can we leave?" He replied: "Tomorrow." I was happy.

Joined By Hellcat

TOMORROW came, and Nikonova arrived with the tidings that Valentino Orlova, one of the hellcats of our school, was to join our party in a day or so. That would make two Communists to watch me, I thought helplessly. The trip was again postponed until we were joined by an elderly teacher from the Washington school. Finally the little party took off.

At Niagara Falls, where the museum interested me especially, the two Communist women ganged up on me to harass me at every step. In the course of the 27 months of serving as a teacher in the Soviet school this was the only trip I was allowed to take, and that under constant surveillance.

The regime grew more severe with the arrival of a special inspector from Russia. He came on the same plane as Vishinsky, the deputy foreign minister, who was to appear before the United Nations. We were all called before him for a check on our work and personnel. He used all kinds of devices during his stay to engage me in conversation after school hours, but I would excuse myself with the plea that I had plenty of school work waiting for me at home.

He undoubtedly had a stack of reports on me. One incident comes to my mind which grew out of a discussion in the graduating class of what constitutes freedom of the press. I had stated my position as follows: "An artist, a poet, a writer must be absolutely free. He's not like a shoemaker who deals with materials things only."

Warned By Consul

THE following day I was called to the consulate which already was in possession of a report on my indiscretion. I was given a stern lecture on my "deviation from 'dialectical materialism' — the true Lenin-Stalin line. After that, I decided to keep my mouth shut whenever a controversial issue was brought up in class.

This did not deter me from repaying my persecutors in kind whenever they harped on the inferiority of American products and methods as compared with those of the Soviets. My landlord, for instance, the consulate secretary Porojniakov, would keep singing to me the praises of Russian sugar. "It's sweeter

Quits As Governor

HUBERTUS VAN MOOK

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—Netherlands officials Thursday announced the resignation of Hubertus J. Van Mook as Governor-General of Indonesia, effective Nov. 1.

The officials said acceptance of the resignation had not yet been received from The Hague. (Government sources at The Hague said Wednesday night Van Mook's resignation had been accepted by the cabinet. The name of his successor was not announced.)

Reliable sources here said Van Mook had resigned chiefly because he had not been informed of certain Netherlands government actions in regard to Indonesia during the last two weeks.

sugars. "This American sugar is made of cane, ours of beets."

Whenever his wife Zoya berated American articles, I took pleasure in emphasizing American inventiveness.

"Take such an ordinary thing as a baby carriage," I pointed and harked," he would drum into my ears.

"But you don't understand chemistry," I finally threw at him. "They are simply different out to her once. "How smart of the Americans to add a strap to hold the baby in."

Zoya, who had a little girl, had removed the strap to make her baby carriage conform to Soviet style. "The idea of holding babies like puppies on a leash!" she sneered. Not long afterwards I went shopping with her for shoes on upper Broadway. We took the baby in the carriage with us, minus the strap. While we were trying on shoes inside the store, there was a terrific scream and uproar outside. Little Olechka had slipped out and fallen on the concrete sidewalk. Instantly a crowd had collected. By the time Zoya had soothed her baby and replaced it in the carriage, I spoke the last word:

"See, I told you those Americans are smart."

Fell For The Bait

BUT Zoya, who was one of my NKVD shadows, had her vengeance. Some time later she provoked me by holding aloft before me and reading aloud from the anti-Communist Russian paper in New York an article dealing with the plight of the Russian DP's in Germany. I was so upset that I fell for the bait.

"Tell me," I cried out, "where were your Molotov and Vishinsky when millions of Russian were perishing without trial, without the right of appeal, and without a chance to beg for mercy? Is it any wonder that these hundreds of thousands of Soviet citizens and veterans prefer to be DP's than to go back to Soviet Russia on account of the regime?"

This outburst added dangerous fuel to the witch-hunt closing in upon me.

(Tomorrow: News of the closing of the school.)

One Of Four Alleged Vichy Ex-Workers Hired By Laval U.

QUEBEC (CP)—A member of the staff of Laval University said today that Dr. Georges Montel, one of four Frenchmen who escaped deportation through a special federal order-in-council, is engaged to give courses at the university during the current term.

The official said that Dr. Montel had given similar courses in experimental surgery at Laval last term during April and May. He added that Dr. Montel, reported to have been convicted in absentia by the French government for alleged wartime collaboration, has been in Canada about two years.

The university staff member did not discuss how Dr. Montel's Canadian entry had been carried out or details of his movements in Canada apart from his connection with Laval.

Dr. Montel now has been engaged by Sorel Hospital, he added, but his post will permit him to continue his Laval courses.

His background is believed to be familiar to Laval University authorities, where in high quarters the view is said to be that Dr. Montel's association with the Vichy government does not necessarily convict him automatically of active collaboration with the Nazis.

Dr. Montel is described here as a wartime "functionary" of the Vichy government and as a result an object of "vengeance" on the part of certain French political factions.

Denazification Court Takes Property Of Hitler, Braun

FRANKFURT (Reuter)—Adolf Hitler's entire property valued at more than 200,000 deutsche marks ($60,000) today was ordered confiscated. The order came from a denazification court which "tried" the former Nazi leader.

Hitler's wife, Eva Braun, was on trial at the same time. The "presence" of the accused, presumed dead, was symbolized by two empty chairs.

The court ruled that "Adolf Hitler, deceased" would have been classified as a "major offender" had he still been alive. His property will be confiscated regardless of claims by "personal heirs."

The proceedings lasted 70 minutes. The court president, Georg Raab, a Munich merchant, in passing sentence, announced the court's conviction that Hitler is dead.

The court classified Eva Braun as "a beneficiary of the Nazi regime" and ordered confiscation of her property.

Atlantic Plane Speeds St. Laurent To Conference

Today in London, Canada's Acting Prime Minister was talking with Dominions and British leaders, taking the place of Prime Minister King, confined to his hotel under doctor's orders to rest. This picture was taken as Mr. St. Laurent said goodbye to his daughter, Mrs. G. F. Lafferty, and his five-year-old granddaughter Jean, when embarking at Montreal. (Photo Trans-Canada Air Lines.)

St. Laurent Visits Attlee In 'Behind Scenes' Talks

LONDON (CP)—Behind the scenes talks between Commonwealth representatives continued today, with Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Acting Canadian Prime Minister, having tea with Prime Minister Clement Attlee at 10 Downing Street.

There was a series of other meetings among representatives to the Dominions prime ministers' conference.

These informal talks will continue until Monday, when the prime ministers and their deputies will assemble again in plenary session.

The representatives were cheerful about the results for their first week of discussion on the future form of the Commonwealth and its defence and economy.

Prime Minister King was busy in his Dorchester Hotel room, where he has been confined to bed for a week by doctor's orders. He has been in touch with representatives of almost all the Dominions.

The three new Asiatic dominions have exchanged opinions and ideas with their colleagues from the older commonwealth countries, Pakistan and Ceylon have confirmed that they can be looked on as firm long-term members of the Commonwealth, sources said.

Vishinsky Charges Allies Cause Of Berlin Question

PARIS (CP)—Andrei Vishinsky broke his Kremlin-imposed silence in the Security Council today and renewed his charge that the Berlin question had arisen because the Western Powers violated agreements with Russia.

Earlier Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada had acted as first spokesman for the six lesser powers—the "neutrals"—on the council in appealing to the Big Four to settle the blockade by direct negotiation.

ASKS FOR DETAILS

Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting council chairman, asked the four big powers today for details on the Aug. 30 agreement between Prime Minister Stalin and western diplomats and for the instructions given the four Military Governors of Germany to implement the accord.

Under the agreement, Russia was to lift the blockade and the Western powers were to recognize the Soviet mark as the sole currency for Berlin.

The British, U.S. and French delegates said they were willing to answer Bramuglia's questions at the next council meeting on Berlin.

Vishinsky then rose and declared the Argentine's questions were a "very skilled" manoeuvre to drag the Soviet delegation into the Berlin debate.

Biggest Potato Crop Since 1931

OTTAWA (CP)—Foreshadowing a possible drop in potato prices, the Bureau of Statistics forecast Thursday a 1948 Canadian potato crop of 51,400,000 hundredweight, the highest production since 1931.

In its second estimate of the harvest of late-sown crops, the bureau said this would be an increase of 6,300,000 hundredweight over the 1947 crop and substantially above the 1938-47, 10-year average of 41,900,000. The 1931 potato crop reached 52,300,000 hundredweight.

The bureau placed this year's production of dry peas at 1,468,000 bushels against 1,788,000 last year. The dry bean crop was shown at 1,806,000 bushels against 1,446,000. An all-time record Canadian soy bean crop of 1,880,000 bushels was indicated.

Delay Termination Of C.S.U. Contract

MONTREAL (CP)—The contract between the Canadian Seamen's Union and the Shipping Federation of Canada, due to terminate Friday, has been extended through the period of conciliation proceedings, now in progress, Conrad Sauras, spokesman for the union, said here.

The dispute hinges on the renewal of the contract between the federation, which operates more than 140 deep sea vessels, and the union.

Mosher Threatens To Banish U.E.W. From C.C.L. Ranks

TORONTO (CP)—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, told the Communist-led United Electrical Workers today they'll be "thrown out" of the Congress if they don't change their tactics.

Speaking after a U.E.W. criticism of the C.C.L. voting procedure, he said: "Unless you change your tactics—and change them damned soon—whether you leave or not, you'll be thrown out."

"We're not going to put up with the kind of tactics and philosophies you're giving us here."

Untrained British Soldiers In Malaya

LONDON (Reuter)—War Secretary Emmanuel Shinwell Tuesday admitted that soldiers with less than six months' basic training had been sent to Malaya, where there is a Communist-inspired insurrection. He stated he was misinformed when he told the House of Commons last month that no Guardsmen had been sent to Malaya without having at least six months basic training.

It was the most straightforward of three such ultimatums by Mr. Mosher this week and a direct reply to a pronouncement Thursday by Ross Russell of Toronto.

Mr. Russell, U.E.W. Director of Organization, said: "The administration will never get this union to leave this Congress. We're staying—to fight red-baiting and to battle for the things labor wants."

Workers Barricaded Inside Auto Plant At Bordeaux, France

PARIS (AP)—One thousand Bordeaux auto workers barricaded themselves inside the Georges Irat factory today and refused to leave.

The workers kept the plant manager as a hostage and welded the factory doors shut. The Communist-led Confederation General du Travail asked other metal workers in the region to begin sympathy strikes and ordered the men inside the auto plant to resist arrest.

France's 335,000 coal miners remained off the job for the 12th day, despite a government expression of confidence yesterday that the Communist-led strike wave was on the wane.

In Paris, taxicab drivers ended a week-long strike and went back to work today after being granted fare increases of about 33 per cent.

Nanaimo Tug Saves Distressed Vessel

The tug Cuprite, which sent out a distress signal Thursday night from halfway between Active Pass and Sandheads was towed to safety by the Nanaimo Towing Co. tug Aleutian Chief early this morning, it was reported here today.

The Cuprite, which had a barge in tow, sent out her call for aid after her engine failed and she was left facing a stiff westerly wind. The Nanaimo tug company sent their vessel out and, after locating the distressed craft, took her in tow, reaching Galiano Island at 5 this morning.

The Cuprite, owned by Stephen Joyce of Powell River, had a crew of four aboard, all of whom are safe.

Magnuson Discloses Plans To Run P.G.E. To Alaska

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Plans to extend the British Columbia B.C. centre, was begun in 1912 to government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Alaska were reported today.

Correspondence between United States Senator Warren G. Magnuson and the B.C. government was made public in which the senator indicated that "private capital is available to construct the greater part of the railroad to Alaska and for the development of affiliated natural resources in B.C."

The railway, now comprising 345 miles of track from Squamish near Vancouver, to Quesnel, 50 miles south of this north-central B.C. centre, was begun in 1912 to provide a rail link between Vancouver and the province's "great northern empire." Since then numerous unsuccessful attempts have been made by the B.C. government to finance additional construction.

"I am in a position to assure you," Senator Magnuson said, "that for more than a year Willis T. Batcheller, president and chief engineer of the Canadian Alaska Railway Co., has been working closely with me and with various United States government agencies involved."

The senator said arrangements had been completed for Batcheller to discuss with the Canadian government in Ottawa regarding "private financing" and "co-ordinating these with future government plans."

"Mr. Batcheller and his bankers," Senator Magnuson said, "are prepared to proceed with a comprehensive regional development program in accordance with a plan which is both complete in itself and in harmony with any future defence needs."

"The starting of this program will have the effect of saving much valuable time, otherwise lost in waiting for further congressional action."

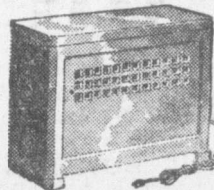

The women of the Middle Ages wore brooches of the ring type, in which the pin was held in place by the fabric through which it passed.

ARE VICTORIANS SHIRKERS?

MUCH HAS BEEN SAID AND WRITTEN in the emotional vein about Victoria's 1948 Community Chest campaign. None will have quarreled with the arguments advanced in support of its indisputably laudable purpose. But contributions are not coming into headquarters at an adequate rate, in sufficient numbers, or in the appropriate amounts. As this is written, for example, and with only a little more than a week in which to reach the objective of $180,000, the authorities at Prince Robert House, have received just over one-sixth of the minimum sum required to meet the organization's commitments. This is not good enough. It is a poor advertisement for a community reputed to enjoy the largest per capita wealth of any city in the Dominion. Something is wrong somewhere. Basic virtues have evidently gone into the discard.

What seems to have been forgotten, or conveniently ignored, by many people is that the proceeds of the Community Chest's annual appeal go to meet those cases of dire necessity for which not even the most meticulously conceived legislation can hope to provide. This is not a new argument. We have advanced it in these columns dozens of times. Its truth nevertheless persists. Nor do we suppose the Community Chest officials will receive the least encouragement or sympathy if they should have the temerity to point out that if the several thousands of Greater Victorians who spend about $4,000,000 annually on liquor, who wager $1,000,000 at the race track, and who otherwise indulge their individual pursuits in the realm of entertainment—if even half of these citizens were to cut down just a wee bit on these alleged luxuries, the energetic canvassers who traipse the streets of this capital city in behalf of a great and good cause would be less weary at the end of many days of self-imposed and unpaid labor. Of course we shall be told that how the individual spends his or her money is his or her own business. We do not contest the argument.

What we are concerned about, however, is the possibility, even the probability, that it will go out to the outside world that this wealthy capital city of the Province of British Columbia fell down on its job of serving humanity to the limit of the requests made upon it for the second time in succession. This is neither a pleasant nor a profitable prospect. Every citizen of this community, within his or her capacity, should see to it that the Dominion's record in behalf of the national and international cause of the "Red Feather" shall not be besmirched by our failure to reach the $180,000 objective. How about it, Greater Victorians, do we relish the opprobrious title of shirkers? Surely not. The hour is getting late. But there is ample time in which to dig deeper into the purse and fish out that extra dollar or so.

CAREERS OF SERVICE

AT THIS SEASON, AS IN SPRING, THE public is informed, through published pass lists, of the candidates successful in examinations conducted by the Registered Nurses' Association. The results are of absorbing interest to personal friends. But, in a broader sense, the successes of the young women who have acquired certification are of major importance to the community and nation as a whole.

These are the individuals who, as a result of arduous training and concentrated study, have achieved a position in life in which they are competent to ease the suffering, to render aid to those in physical distress, and to help safeguard the welfare of a country which is becoming increasingly health-minded. Their acceptance as registered nurses marks neither the beginning of their careers nor the end of their study. For years they have been engaged in preparing themselves for the responsibilities which will be theirs, and during the years to come they will be adding to both the theoretical knowledge and practical experience which will increase their value to humanity.

At this point in their progress an occasion is furnished to express appreciation for the obligation they have undertaken and for the services they will perform. They have every reason for pride in the profession to which they are pledged—a profession in the exercise of which courage, intelligence and stamina are essentials. They have already given evidence of those characteristics. The future will give them further opportunities to prove the merit already indicated.

POLICE LOTTERY PROBLEMS

RECENTLY THE VICTORIA LIONS Club considered last minute cancellation of the carnival it holds annually to raise funds for charities because it had been led to believe the mammoth bingo game it had planned would be closed down on legal grounds. Eleventh hour arrangements resulted in the decision to proceed with the function. Funds were raised.

At that time the citizens of this community were highly exercised over the issue posed by bingo—admittedly a game of chance, or so close to it that the requisite skill is less than that required in recognized gambling. The public, of course, took into primary consideration the end for which the game was planned—to raise money to help those in need. They could not, however, escape the means. Gambling is gambling whether it involves the fortuitous loss or gain of a nickel or a million dollars. Unquestionably penny-ante play is less likely to have attached to it the more undesirable features which are frequently present when stakes are high. At the same time, gambling is illegal—except in those forms approved by legislation, such as wagering on horses under proper auspices at the track.

The rub, as far as the citizens, and presumably members of the police force, were concerned, lay in the fact that the Lions Club at one time seemed to be singled out for special attention while other institutions and agencies appeared to enjoy immunity.

The issue has come to the fore again this week with a report from Police Chief J. A. McLellan on discussions relative to lotteries at the annual convention of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada in Vancouver recently. The Victoria chief cited the opinion of a judge in favor of legalizing lotteries and bookmaking. That opinion, he explained, was not unanimously shared by delegates. Chief McLellan noted that amendment of laws does not lie in the competence of the police force. He added:

"The duty of the police officer is to enforce the law. It is a misfortune and embarrassment to him when laws remain on our statute books which are incapable of enforcement."

It is up to the citizens to draw their own inferences from this admission. Obviously the police cannot crack down on one branch of illegal gambling and allow other "games of chance" in the cloistered seclusion of highly-respectable premises. But the point raised by another spokesman at the convention on which the chief reported might be kept in mind. That was that the amendment of laws which have fallen into disrepute can frequently be expedited by arousing public opinion through intensive prosecution.

SHOULDERING RESPONSIBILITIES

ARGUMENTS ADVOCATING HIGHER production from labor have been ably presented in recent years. In Britain, leading statesmen and economists have emphasized the necessity for greater output in that nation's recovery drive. In the United States, and in like degree in Canada, the case has been presented to bring home to the public the fact that goods in short supply can be supplemented only by greater effort on the part of those who produce them, and that inflation can best be curbed through that course.

A somewhat different facet of the well-known argument was presented this week to delegates at the Trades and Labor Conference by Richard F. Walsh, international president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada. His point was summed up in the statement that when workmen achieve gains in working conditions they "should show to the public that they are going to do that job just that much better." Practical application of that thesis would do much to counteract the suggestion that labor is more concerned with getting more for less effort than it is with discharging its obligations.

Hundreds of words have been written about the difficulties of inspiring the worker in this day of mass production with a pride of craftsmanship. In a routine job a man or woman is less likely to achieve that sense of well-being which comes from accomplishment than he or she might have done in days when the individual's effort was more apparent in the finished product. At the same time a satisfaction does exist in a job well done. Few consciences are elastic enough to find the same gratification in getting by that is found in doing a little more than is necessary. And, as Mr. Walsh notes, if labor is to derive a greater measure of confidence from the public—of which, incidentally, labor forms the major part—it can demonstrate its good faith and sense of responsibility by showing that it is "going to do that job just that much better."

A LITTLE TIME

THE CUMULATIVE MAGNITUDE OF even very small amounts of time, when a sufficient number of them are involved, can amount to surprising totals. A correspondent to The Times, London, points this out in the course of urging letter writers to take more care in addressing their missives. We do not know the details of the Canadian experience in that regard, but dead letter offices across the Dominion, as in Britain, no doubt are kept busy trying to deliver mail to inadequately described addressees or return it to the senders. The correspondent in question adds to his argument the fact that the Post Office in Britain "deals with 15,000,000 letters and 500,000 parcels every week-day, and a fifth of a second saved on each item means a saving of over 5,000 staff hours weekly."

A fifth of a second does not seem very much to worry about when considered by itself. But viewed in its relation to 15,000,000 letters it becomes a very valuable commodity, something to be carefully utilized and accounted for.

MAKING THEIR ROAD BUMPY

WE ARE TOLD THE WORLD LOVES A lover. That may account for the amount of space English seaman Kenneth Darling is receiving in the public prints. The young man, suffering from tuberculosis, has been accused of illegal entry into the United States in an effort to reach his English sweetheart, who left Edmonton Tuesday evening to see him in Emerson, Man., where he is held by immigration officials.

Far be it from us to stand in Cupid's way. But if this is the type of love that laughs at locksmiths and such like, does not the young lady's action in going to the Manitoba town suggest a solution? If Darling's is the all-consuming flame—and if it is matched by Darling's darling's—could they not find happiness where the seaman is not subject to prosecution for failing to meet immigration requirements?

Electoral College

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Washington Correspondent of The Canadian Press.

TWELVE STATES, if they voted solidly for one of the candidates, could elect the next President of the United States, regardless how the other 36 states voted. That is because the constitutional responsibility for choosing the President and Vice-President rests on an "Electoral College." The overall popular vote is not the decisive factor.

The Electoral College was set up in 1787 by the writers of the constitution. Some changes were made in its functions by the 12th amendment to the constitution ratified in 1804. It was created because the founders of the country were doubtful about the ability of the people to make a wise choice in a free election.

IT IS PROVIDED that each state shall choose a body of "electors," one for every senator and congressman the state sends to Washington. The electors may not be congressmen or other persons holding public office for gain. There are 96 senators and 435 members of the House of Representatives—a total of 531. Thus, 531 electors must be created to choose a President.

It is the tradition and custom that the party getting the majority of votes in each state gets the support of the entire group of "electors" in the state.

THE NUMBER of House members a state sends to Washington is based on population. In addition, each state has two senators. New York, the most populous state, sends a total of 47 to Congress. And the whole 47 Electoral College votes goes to the candidate who gets the most votes in that state.

Because of the Electoral College set-up, it is possible for a candidate to win the presidency with the support of only 12 states: New York, Pennsylvania, California, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Texas and Wisconsin. Together they have a total of 269 members of the Electoral College. A simple majority of 266 is all it takes to win.

IF NO CANDIDATE has a majority, the House of Representatives decides the winner. That has not happened since 1825.

There have been many efforts to abolish the college or alter its method of operation to make the choice of Presidents more reflective of popular choice.

The constitution left it to the state legislatures to decide how the electors should be chosen. Originally they were to be appointed and left to exercise their own judgment, with orders to report their choice to Congress on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December of the election year. However, for 100 years or more, the states have chosen the electors in party contests.

THE GROUP may still constitutionally and legally choose as President and Vice-President any persons legally qualified to hold those offices. Nevertheless, they are confident to rubber-stamp the choice of the people.

It will take a constitutional amendment to get rid of that part of the United States electoral machinery.

In this year's election, each party, in each state that is legally on ballot, offers its slate of Electoral College candidates. In some states, those are the only names on the ballot. In others, the Electoral College names do not appear, but the candidates' names are used and a vote for the candidate is a vote for the slate of electors of his party. Some states use both the candidates' and electors' names.

WHEN THE RESULTS are known, the electors of the party which wins the majority of votes in any state cast all the Electoral College votes for that state.

There is strong agitation for a change by which the votes in the Electoral College would be allotted according to percentage of the total vote won by each party candidate.

In 1876 Samuel Tilden won the largest popular vote but Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President because he won the big states and got the majority in the Electoral College.

IN 1940 WENDELL WILKIE was only some 240,000 votes short of the total won by Franklin D. Roosevelt in New York State but Roosevelt got all 47 electoral votes.

After an election, the electors in each state go through the formality of confirming the vote of the people, sending it to Washington. Jan. 6, at a joint session of Congress, the sealed report is opened and the results announced. The President is inaugurated Jan. 20.

Sometimes electors who can afford the trip come to Washington for a formal "election" in December and hold a banquet to celebrate completion of their quadrennial task. Then the Electoral College is out of a job for another four years.

IN ENGLAND

I was much amused at the letter in your issue 8th Oct. re Conditions in England. The lady must have indeed looked at things through rose colored glasses or have had a very strong imagination. I get letters from England in an average of once per week. I quote an extract from a letter dated 12th Sept. from one of my sisters living in North Wales: "The food situation here gets worse instead of better. All our government seem to lack brains and organization; they only think of their party and not England—what a muddle everything is in—their foreign policy is awful."

REV. DR. WILSON'S VIEW

Surely Mr. Norman Klenman, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Cabaret Owners' Association, had his tongue in his cheek when he wrote the letter which appeared in the Times last Saturday evening. His attempt to bracket a respectable newspaper with the liquor business must have given his associates a good laugh. There are, however, one or two points in his letter which should not pass unnoticed. The remarkable admission "that the pay-off to political officials for the license privilege" greatly increases the cost of drinks will certainly embarrass some people. Most people suspected that there was a "pay-off," but it is something new for a high ranking official of the B.C. Cabaret Owners' Association to make such an accusation over his own signature. I shall await the reaction of those against whom the charge has been directed.

Mr. Klenman would have your readers believe that the B.C. government lags far behind public opinion in the matter of handling the liquor business, and cites the action of Ontario as worthy of imitation. Let me remind Mr. Klenman that it is just because the B.C. government does know public opinion that they steadfastly refuse to grant further concessions to liquor interests. They know that this question, in one form or another, has been repeatedly referred to the electorate of this city, and every time the people have, by overwhelming majority, registered their disapproval of granting increased outlets for the sale of liquor. And they will do it again if they are consulted.

Mr. Klenman is unfortunate in illustrating by the action of Ontario. Both he and our government know what happened to Mr. Drew, the premier of Ontario, at the recent election. It is conceded on all sides that Mr. Drew lost his seat because he foisted the cocktail bars on the City of Toronto. The members of our Legislature know public opinion too well to run the risk the premier of Ontario took, when he was repudiated by the electorate. The degradation and crime which can be traced directly and indirectly to the cocktail bars in Toronto, are known throughout the whole Dominion, since references in the press are many and frequent. May I suggest to the Cabaret Owners' Association of B.C. that they show themselves able and willing to enforce the legislation we now have before they seek further concessions.

W. G. WILSON.

AIR MAIL

Your issue of Oct. 9 contains an article on the above matter to which I reply in brief.

It is not good to feel that we have added such expenses to loved relatives and friends in our attempts to cheer them up in what they are facing these days. In my opinion the postal department at Ottawa could have avoided these mistakes to a great extent if more press notices had been sent out from time to time dispersing such information.

Please do not think I am criticizing the good postal service, it is wonderful, and once the general public understand the points you set forth in your comments, they will be very grateful, and support the air mail service as it should be supported, in my opinion.

I am of the general opinion that the average person sending air mail letters will take due notice of your timely comments, and act accordingly.

W. H. HADLEY, 1239 Burnside Road.

More In Pride Than Pity

IT IS evident from a letter in your issue of Oct. 8 that a balanced picture of postwar Britain is still hard to assemble. Whereas half a loaf is better than no bread, half a truth is not better than a fallacy. The whole truth is rarely gathered from correspondence and is completely obscured if we listen to the impressions of individuals hot from a conference in London, or to the comments of war brides upon their first sight of a Canadian department store.

LABOR SHORTAGE
The trials of the British housewife are chiefly attributable to labor shortage. Milk alone comes to the door unaccompanied even by the morning paper. This imperative personal shopping is new to a large section of the British public, though most Canadians are accustomed to it. A queue is not a reliable sign of scarcity, but is the orderly result of one girl serving where four would prevent a queue. We have seen that the abundance of Canada's food at retail is not immune to the influence of full employment at high wages, but fail to visualize the greater intensity of a like situation in Britain.

We forget she is a fourth of the area of British Columbia and that her coal miners and their families alone outnumber the population of this province. On that same island whose rivers share half the present total of the world's shipbuilding, and whose need for new houses is such that all the homes in Canada would barely satisfy it, the export drive gathers force.

With so much money about there is unprecedented competition for unrationed foods, for poultry and game, halibut and cauliflower. There is no competition for cabbage and cod. Britain now consumes 40 per cent more milk than in 1938, but to return to milk-rationing by the purse is not possible yet.

In each home the degree of economy imposed by rationing of imported food depends on the degree in which the ancient art of economy in food matters has been revived. For Britons who today would afford peaches, prunes must do, but in their hearts they do not exaggerate the deficiencies of prunes or ignore the compensations of plain living.

As neighbors of the stricken peoples they recognize their incomparable fortune, send food parcels to the continent and give more blood to the blood-banks on shepherds pie than ever was achieved when unlimited sirloin was available. Their high confidence is inconsistent with malnutrition. Let us send food to Britain by all means, but no pity.

CLOTHING LESS VITAL

The subject of clothing is of less vital interest than that of food. The British are not shabby. One must speak of averages. In industrial towns the standard of appearance is higher than it has ever been. Yet displays of dress in the shops which are beyond the reach of money is most frustrating. For heads of feminine households, austerity means a shine on the seat of the pants but hardship is too strong a word to be used by sane observers.

"At Close Quarters": a sidelight on Anglo-American Diplomatic Relations, by Col. H. M. A. C. Murray, assistant military attaché at Washington, speaks of a tweed suit made in Edinburgh for President F. D. Roosevelt's father in 1878. The President wrote: " . . . that was four years before I was born. He wore the suit constantly until his death in 1900. I inherited it, and wore it steadily until 1926, when I passed it on to my boy James A good example of Scotch craftsmanship aided and abetted by Dutch thrift!"

NOT EXPLAINED

So when an aunt writes triumphantly from England that she has made a blouse from an old bedspread, her news should not be allowed to prove too much. On a postwar visit to Britain (of 12 months' duration) I have learned what Auntie forgot to explain. Rationing presented an excuse for tutting up the fine linen and with her needle she saved four coupons towards a more ambitious garment. In her mind the congratulations from over the garden fence gibe at the sympathy from across the Atlantic. Of course, she was pleased with the parcel which arrived from the land of plenty, and especially with that can of cooking oil, such a Godsend to fry a bit of fish in. But that blouse wasn't quite understood over there, nor the rare quality of the bedspread long preserved among unused wedding gifts and lavender. — GEOFFREY ROY, P.O. Box 222.

JAMES B. CONANT, president of Harvard University, in discussing the European crisis says he doubts if the Soviet Union will force the issue provided Britain, France and the United States are firm in holding its positions.

Dr. Conant expresses this view in his new book, "Education in a Divided World." He is "convinced that there is little or no analogy between the Nazi menace and the Soviet challenge." He continues:

"The former, to my view, had to be met by force of arms because it was an immediate military threat. The latter is an ideological and political thrust supported by military means; the Russian armies hidden behind the iron curtain are defensive troops to support political gains by the advanced fifth column within another nation; they are not to be used as the spearhead of the forward movement."

"I recognize I am being very dogmatic about a highly debatable subject. Not only will many experts on foreign affairs disagree with this diagnosis, but history may prove me wrong within the next few months."

"However, I am bold enough to predict that, unlike Hitler, Russia will not take aggressive military action by invading a nation without an invitation from a de facto government . . .

INEVITABLE CONSEQUENCES

"Recurring periods of extreme tension would seem inevitable consequences of an armed truce. If Great Britain, France, and the United States are firm in their determination to hold positions recognized as just by world opinion, I doubt if the Soviets will force the issue."

"The proper pattern for preventing the outbreak of another global war would seem to involve readiness to answer coercion by the use of force coupled with willingness to negotiate at any time on matters of broad policy."

I doubt if many foreign affairs experts in the democracies will do other than agree with Dr. Conant.

The consensus of objective observers is that the Soviets don't want war—at least not now. It's clear that the Communists intend to push their offensive to the limit—short of precipitating war. Therefore if war should develop out of the present obviously dangerous situation it would be by accident, so to speak, rather than by premeditation.

The recent hardening of the policy of the western powers certainly fits in with Dr. Conant's "pattern for preventing another global war." They recognize that the way to stop a bully is to stand up to him.

THE OTHER FOOT

Windsor Star
If George A. Drew finds himself prime minister of a Canada at war, we wonder what he'll say if a provincial premier insists on telling him how to run it.

COLORFUL

Ottawa Citizen
Whether Col. Drew's flair for the dramatic and the dynamic will weaken in time his hold on a party essentially static in outlook, remains to be seen. But at least he will enliven the House of Commons and make debate a clash of personality as well as of opinion.

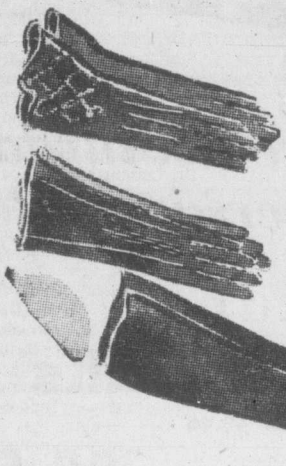

ALL ALIVE

E. Cheesman in the B.C.C. London Letter
"There is an absurd story of a naturalist who found what he thought was a new kind of frog with a luminous waistcoat. He was delighted because he had never seen anything like it before. But when he took it home and examined it he found that it was a common species, but it had dined too well on fireflies, swallowing them whole, and they were still alive and their lights were shining through the thick skin of the frog's tummy."

CAN'T BE DONE

Financial Post
In the course of the political campaigns during the coming months, Canadians will be bombarded with every promise and argument in the political book. There'll be talk of greater benefits for all and fewer taxes, often in the same breath. But the acid test for determining the true value of such promises and arguments is still the same old reliable one: "Do they claim to give something for nothing?" If they do, look for the catch, because it can't be done.

Knocked Out By Same Hand Grenade 2 War Veterans Meet After 30 Years

An unusual meeting took place in Victoria Thursday when two Canadian soldiers of the same C.E.F. battalion of the First World War exchanged views about a Hun-thrown hand grenade which knocked both of them out of action a little over 30 years ago.

They were Deputy-Commissioner Roger Peachey of the B.C. Provincial Police, and Hon. C. C. Williams, labor minister in the Saskatchewan C.C.F. government and provincial secretary. The latter is also former mayor of Regina.

Both men were in their early 20s, when the deputy police chief, a scout captain, and the labor minister a private in the signals.

Scene of the double-wounding was on Aug. 8, 1918, shortly after their infantry regiment, the First Canadian Mounted Rifles, had gone "over the top" at the 4.20 a.m. zero hour in the first wave near Hangard Wood in the Amiens attack.

Within a matter of minutes the pair was on the casualty list. Only a few feet separated them when the "potato-masher" dropped between them. It cost Mr. Peachey a leg and Mr. Williams is still carrying a few pieces of the shrapnel in his chest. It was the finish of their fighting days, coming in the closing stages of the war when the Germans were on the big retreat.

They had never known each other personally, but the labor minister said he always had a desire to meet the man who was felled by the same grenade. The years fled by and no contact was made. In 1947, Mr. Williams happened to read an account about Deputy Commissioner Peachey being on hand to check on the Doukhobor trouble in the province.

He said he wondered if it was the same man and made up his mind to check on the next visit to Victoria.

Here for the labor convention and other provincial matters, Mr. Williams buzzed Mr. Peachey on the telephone and a luncheon date was made.

They shook hands for the first time at noon Thursday in the Empress Hotel and were soon recalling the "big incident" and many other features of the grim fighting days of the battlefields of northwest Europe in the 1914-18 world conflict.

Hospitals Survey Throughout B.C. To Start Nov. 1

A complete survey will be made of all British Columbia hospitals. This announcement was made by Dr. J. M. Hershey at Thursday's meeting of the Hospital Advisory Council in Vancouver.

Discussions concerning such a step have been under way for some time, said Dr. Hershey, and the Hospital Insurance Service considers itself fortunate in obtaining the services of James A. Hamilton and associates, hospital consultants of Minneapolis, Minn.

The purpose of the survey is to appraise the hospital needs of the province and to prepare a long-range plan which will be a guide, not only to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service but will be of assistance to the communities themselves.

"The results of this enterprise," said Dr. Hershey, "will be of value both to the hospitals and the government."

After an inventory has been made of existing hospital services and facilities, the quantity and type of hospital requirements needed will be assessed, taking into account health and population characteristics as well as economic and social conditions.

DETAILED STUDY
The survey will specify the number and type of hospital beds which should be constructed to meet any proposed expansion program and will make a general estimate of the cost involved.

In addition, there will be an appraisal of a number of hospitals with a presentation of the summary of the findings.

A further important aspect of the survey is its estimation of the number and types of professional skilled personnel needed to carry out the hospital program. It will also outline a training program designed to fill these needs.

Dr. Hershey pointed out that this is the first time that such a complete survey has been carried out in British Columbia and he felt sure that when it was completed, it would bring to light a great deal of valuable information.

The survey is expected to get under way about Nov. 1, and will take approximately six months to complete. Mr. Hamilton was recently in Vancouver to address the annual meeting of the Western Canada Institute for Hospital Administrators and Trustees.

Police, School To Resume On Monday
The B.C. Provincial Police school for recruits, under the direction of Inspector Carl Ledoux, will be resumed Monday after a long postponement. The big demand for policemen at the scene of the Fraser flood last spring resulted in the disbanding of the school.

Insp. Ledoux's pupils will be the same who were attending before the break-up with the exception of two. These include 10 members of the provincial force, Constable Robert Adrian of Saanich and Constable E. Hammer of the city department. Course, which embraces instruction in many phases of police work, will conclude Nov. 6. A new course will start Nov. 22.

T.L.C. Convention Wants Return Of Price Controls, Profits Tax

Rising prices, in the opinion of Canadian labor, should be halted by the continuance and re-establishment of price controls.
They are the result not of increased wages but of the avariciousness of manufacturers and retailers.

This was made clear here Wednesday afternoon at the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada convention. The convention instructed the congress executive to continue to press for the return of price controls, levying of a 100 per cent excess profits tax and prosecution of cartels, monopolies and speculators for profiteering.

The convention expressed fear that rent controls might soon be lifted and instructed the executive to do all in its power to prevent this. Bernard Shane, Montreal, representing the International Lady Garment Workers, predicted the lifting of rent controls would be calamitous for the working people of the nation.

Bruce Magnuson, Sudbury, representing the Lumber and Sawmill Workers, told the delegates that the excess profits tax discontinued by the government was the most effective way to control prices.

TAX RETURNED

"Not only is the excess profits tax discontinued, but a large portion of it is to be returned to the companies," he said.

Mr. Magnuson went on to describe the federal government's taxation policy as discriminatory against the workers since it had such low exemptions. He noted that in 1938 profits of Canada businesses were $292,000,000, while in 1947 they were $1,174, 000,000.

"Now surely the corporations are in no need of tax relief much less in need of any refund," he said. He also condemned the federal government's big revenue surpluses while no effort was being made to provide social security.

Delegates were urged to seek enactment of provincial legislation to permit policemen to organize in the province where this had not already been done.

The Unemployment Insurance Act was criticized because it provided for a six-week penalty period during which no employee discharged for cause was entitled to benefits. The administration was also criticized for not bringing 20,000 pulp workers in Ontario under the provisions of the act.

The convention endorsed the efforts of the executive to secure a national labor code, amendment of the Unemployment Insurance Act to provide for increased benefits, and extension of the act to cover all workers; proper pensions for the aged; a national health insurance plan; a housing program; a sound immigration policy; reduction of voting age;
federal aid for education; prevention of injunctions in labor disputes; gratuities and benefits for overseas volunteer fire fighters, 40-hour work week.

Many of these recommendations went through without debate after the chairman said there would be other opportunities to discuss them. On contentious issues of margarine and communism, mentioned casually by the committee, drew no fire.

The convention has not yet got around to considering the bulk of the 260 resolutions submitted to it. It agreed to convene Friday night if necessary to help clean up its big volume of business.

Trades Congress Roundly Scores Canada Shipping Act Provisions

Delegates to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Wednesday afternoon condemned the Canada Shipping Act, the maritime code of the nation, as "a smelly antique," which had been used to block unionization, break strikes and blacklist for sailors.

The convention unanimously adopted a report of its legislative committee which "deplored that, although changes were made in the Shipping Act (at the last session of parliament), they were not of sufficient value to justify calling the act a progressive piece of legislation." The resolution instructed the executive of the congress to continue to press for amendment.

Harry Davis, Montreal, president of the Canadian Seamen's Union, concurred with Percy Ben-gough, president of the T.L.C., that the act was a "smelly antique." He charged it had been used to block the organization of seamen, to break strikes, and, in its amended form, to make seamen's discharge books blacklists.

SLAVE LABOR

Provisions of the act which prevent a seaman from quitting once he has signed article, were described by Mr. Davis as providing for slave labor. As the result of the clause which provides that no one can go aboard a ship without the permission of the captain a score of seamen had been sent to jail for terms ranging from six months to two years.

"The Canada Shipping Act was introduced in the days of Nelson and sailing vessels," he said, adding that it was restrictive legislation that was no longer necessary and provided for disciplining of seamen which should be done by the courts.

The C.S.U.'s vice-president, D.
Ferguson, recalled that 14 pickets at one strike-bound ship had been charged under the act with loitering and held on $1,000 bail each with the result that a week passed before the picket line could be re-established.

Mr. Ferguson complained further that charges laid under the Canada Shipping Act could not be heard by higher courts, but went before magistrates who, in some cases, the day before the trials had been playing golf with the shipowners.

ROBBERY

Provisions of the act which make possible the withholding of seamen's pay until that seaman has a certificate of discharge from the master of a vessel were described by Mr. Ferguson as robbery.

"It is an iniquitous bill," he said. "It has got to be defeated before Canada can have a good merchant service."

Mr. Bengough then criticized the act.

"It's a monstrous law and needs changing," he said, blaming it for many of the difficulties.
He said the act must be made to conform with other labor codes.

Calgary Chosen Convention City
By T.L.C. For 1949

Calgary was chosen Thursday afternoon as the convention city for the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in 1949.

The foothills city won out over Montreal and Saskatoon. On the first ballot the vote was Calgary
321, Montreal 303 and Saskatoon
71. On the second ballot Calgary won a majority with 360
while Montreal received 298 votes.

Montreal had campaigned perhaps more strenuously than Calgary at the current T.L.C. convention here, using label buttons, desk pads and a big sign over the stage of the Sirocco Club.
Calgary had placed posters at each table.

Gordon Cushing, secretary of the Calgary Trades and Labor Council, moved that Calgary be chosen the convention city for 1949. He indicated the Palliser Hotel would be the convention headquarters and there would be plenty of accommodation in the other score of hotels in the city.
Mr. Cushing also threw in a trip to Banff.

The T.L.C. held a convention in Calgary in 1941.

RAYMENT LOSES OUT

Percy Rayment, president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, earlier had been defeated in the race for appointment as fraternal delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention which will be held in Cincinnati later this year.
He received 296 votes against the 368 cast for H. J. Sedgwick,
Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Labor.

Walter M. Murdoch, also of Toronto, executive officer of the American Federation of Musicians, won the election as fraternal delegate to the British circumstances, and had indicated to a delegation that it should be changed. She said the congress should know if Mr. Chevrier had deliberately tried to mislead it.

As her attendant, she chose Miss Betty Scott. With her white floor-length gown trimmed with small gold sequins, Miss Scott wore a wreath of white and mauve chrysanthemums, and carried similar blossoms in her bouquet.

Guests were ushered to their seats by William G. Gubbins and J. Bud Mullen. Best man was J. Russell Thornber. While the register was being signed, Mrs. Jean Trotter sang "Oh Promise Me."

Barbara Ann Scott To Appear First At Famed Roxy Theatre

NEW YORK (CP)—Canada's queen of the ice, Barbara Ann Scott, will make her professional debut at New York's huge Roxy Theatre.

The pretty, 20-year-old Ottawa miss has been signed to headline Theatre, it was announced today, the Roxy's holiday stage show starting Dec. 22. Officials of the Music Corporation of America Artists Limited, her agents, said today her salary for the engagement is "unprecedented."

The figure is rumored to be $10,000 a week. The blonde sweetheart of the Dominion, who holds both world and Olympic figure-skating crowns, announced her decision to turn professional June 1. She said she will donate an undisclosed percentage of her earnings to charity.

Making today's announcement to the Canadian press, M.C.A. officials said other plans for Miss Scott still are undecided, but her Roxy contract calls for a return engagement next year.

The holiday season in New York, starting just before Christmas, usually runs through to the end of January, thus assuring Barbara Ann at least four or five weeks in top billing on her first engagement.

It is understood that plans are going ahead for the pert skater to make several motion pictures following her skating act debut. Two major ice-skating shows also are said to be bidding for her services, and advertisers' requests for endorsements have been pouring in since she made her break with the amateur world in mid-year.

Under the terms of her agreement with M.C.A., the St. Lawrence Foundation was created as a charitable organization to administer Miss Scott's contributions to the welfare of crippled and underprivileged children.

The delay in starting her professional career was attributed to an "abnormal lull in the show business this summer."

"Aside from the usual summer lull in the theatre, this summer

Canadian Guide Voices Greetings

The girls are accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Newill, captain of a Montreal company.

The three girls had a hectic day. They left Montreal early in the morning. On their arrival in New York, they were received at the city hall by Deputy Mayor John S. Bennett, then entertained at a luncheon. Following a tour of Radio City, they were whisked to a ceremony marking the opening of the campaign, which included a pageant showing the development of girl scouting in New York over the last 36 years. The pageant was directed by Mrs. Irving Berlin.

Lake Cowichan — Order of the Royal Purple Lodge, at their meeting held in the community hall, made final arrangements for the banquet and installation of officers to take place Saturday. Members and their escorts will come from other island points for the affair and it was announced that supreme lodge officers from Vancouver would attend. Arrangements were made for a number of Lake Cowichan lodge members to visit the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Mill Bay, on Oct. 31. They will visit their adopted patient, and gifts of fruit, jellies, toys and books will be taken to the children.

'Let's Stick Together, Dad', Bruce McLean's Last Words

A "Bruce McLean Memorial" is being established in honor of the 14-year-old boy who was lost at sea when the mission and hospital boat Messenger II was wrecked off the west coast of Vancouver Island on the night of Oct. 2 while Bruce and his father, Dr. H. A. McLean, were on a mercy mission.

The memorial fund, which, it is hoped, will reach $25,000, will be used to replace the lost Messenger II, and to meet the increase demands for missionary and hospital activity along the west coast.

The story of the loss of the Messenger II, which had served the coast for 13 years, the death of young Bruce and the harrowing 36-hour struggle for survival of his father, who is in charge of the Nootka Mission General Hospital, is graphically told by Percy E. Wills, president of the Mission Hospital, in a report to the Shantymen's Christian Association, with which the hospital is affiliated.

Mr. Wills was aboard the new mission vessel, Messenger III, which made its way through the abating gale which drove the Messenger II to her end, to meet the Co-operator IV, a fish-packer, which had rescued Dr. McLean from his lonely ordeal on rocks of Tatchu Point, between Esperanza Inlet and Kyuquot Sound.

TELLS GRAPHIC STORY

From Dr. McLean, Mr. Wills heard and relates the story of the disaster. Dr. McLean and his son Bruce, were running down the coast from Kyuquot in the face of a rising sea when their engine failed as they were preparing to turn into Esperanza Inlet. Dr. McLean was anxious to return to Nootka Hospital in time to conduct Sunday services.

As the seas mounted, Dr. McLean put out the dinghy from Messenger II, but it was carried away and father and son were left aboard the battered mission vessel.

Finally the seas tossed them overboard. The boy's last words were, "Let's stick together, Dad," but the fury of the storm denied the wish. Some of the seas were 20 feet high.

The boy and his father were lifted onto the crest of a wave where the father saw the last of his son. Dr. McLean was seized by an undertow and dragged away. Bursting to the surface three times, he finally reached the comparative security of a rock.

Then his lonely wait began. Early in the morning he managed to reach the wreck of the Messenger II, which had been lifted and swung around inside the reef. From her he got blankets, food and axe and other materials. When he tried to light a fire, there was no emery paper for the safety matches and he was left without warmth.

With a length of rope, he lashed himself to the rock to prevent being carried away by the waves which crashed over the rock when the tide rose and the wind piled up the seas again.

His sustenance consisted of a few cans of food, pumpkin and beans, which he opened with a pair of surgical scissors. His only protection from the chilling wind was a piece of board which he held in front of his knees.

RESCUE IN SIGHT

At the end of the long Sunday night, he was preparing for another day's ordeal when he sighted a smudge of smoke from the Co-operator IV's exhaust. Waving a sheet tied to a spar, he gained the attention of the fish-packer. In a short time, he was aboard.

Only four days after the loss of his son and Messenger II, Dr. McLean was away on another mercy mission. For a short time, it looked as if the elements were against him, for the small boat in which he had put out was endangered by the waves. But this time rescue was closer at hand and the Messenger III brought the gallant missionary back to safety from the night and the storm.

The loss of 14-year-old Bruce McLean was not the only tragedy to strike at the mission recently. Only a few weeks before, Ottis Hallock, construction engineer, and his partner, Cope, were flying in to Tahsis with equipment to set up a hydro-electric plant for the Nootka Mission Hospital when the plane they were flying disappeared.

I.W.A. Meeting At Courtenay

COURTENAY—Belief that the battle between the International Woodworkers of America and the Woodworkers' Industrial Union for control of the Courtenay district union membership was just beginning, was expressed by Tom Bradley, I.W.A. international representative.

Mr. Bradley, who is touring the camps in the district with two other I.W.A. officials, Stewart Alsberry and Joe Madden, said the international had decided to call a meeting of Courtenay area loggers for Saturday morning in the Native Sons' Hall.

"All members will be welcome," he said. "We have nothing to hide. We are calling this meeting to give the men a few facts about the I.W.U. and to tell them the I.W.A. side of the story—something we were not allowed to do at last Saturday's meeting."

Duncan To Rent Parking Space

DUNCAN—Licensing of parking meter space to taxi companies at $10 a month per cab, with two cab spaces the limit for any one company, was decided upon by city council here, who considered the matter for some time, following representation from two taxi firms.

Council gave approval to plans for the new firehall, which will be put to the people in a by-law Oct. 1. Members felt firemen were working hard for much-needed improvement with local merchants and property owners supporting them.

Details and prices received in connection with the septic tank service it is proposed to render taxpayers, were discussed. Aldermen will choose the most suitable tank and pump, after which an early decision will be made.

Charter W.I.U. Local At Meeting Tonight

NANAIMO—A local of the newly-formed Woodworkers' Industrial Union will be chartered tonight for Nanaimo-Ladysmith woodworkers, at a meeting in Union Hall at 8, according to Archie Lewis, chairman of the Nanaimo-Ladysmith organizing committee of the W.I.U.

In announcing establishment of the new local, Mr. Lewis stated: "An organized gang of disrupters blocked the right of the woodworkers to decide their future affiliation at the local meeting last Thursday evening, in Duncan."

Fireworks Banned In City Of Duncan

DUNCAN.—Decision of city council to invoke a 1924 bylaw prohibiting the lighting of firecrackers within city boundaries, is expected to curtail some of the Halloween fun of young and old planning the traditional noise-making.

Aldermen said firecrackers lighted near automobiles and combustible materials constituted a nuisance.

Parkville Legion Elects T. Tryon

PARKVILLE.—Members elected Thomas Tryon, president of Mount Arrowsmith Branch No. 49, Canadian Legion, at the annual meeting here, Mr. Tryon succeeds Robert Abbott.

Other officers elected included: Kenneth Finch, first vice-president; Wilfred Gamble, second vice-president; John Robertson, sergeant-at-arms; T. C. Hooking, secretary. Members of the executive council are: Leonard Rogers, J. Booth and Charles Ballard.

View Royal Brigade Names Acting Captain

VIEW ROYAL—A View Royal fire trustee, Harold Foxcroft, has been appointed acting captain of the View Royal volunteer fire brigade, according to J. W. Cross, chairman of the fire trustees.

Immediately following arrival of the balance of equipment for the fire truck, the volunteer brigade will be called up, to decide on a permanent captain. Mr. Cross said it would be necessary to lease or erect a building large enough to house the fire engine, as present accommodation is too small.

Veterans Move To New City Bungalows

"The city is to be congratulated but Saanich and Oak Bay should be condemned..."

This is the feeling of the Canadian Legion, said Carl Fallis, chairman of the district council of the veterans' organization, during an inspection tour of wartime houses being built by Victoria Housing Ltd.

First four of 100 under construction in the city were occupied today by veterans' families, and Mr. Fallis said: "We could use 900 more of them immediately."

"But," he added, "the city should not have to carry the full load. Why hasn't Oak Bay and Saanich shared in the scheme to give veterans housing accommodation?"

ASSET TO CITY

Mayor Percy George headed the inspection party and he agreed the houses in the project are an asset to the city. On a recent trip east he visited wartime houses but they don't compare with the Victoria bungalows.

"I don't think you'll see a finer small house than these anywhere in the Dominion," he stated.

The city made available the property for the houses and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a federal government corporation which succeeded Wartime Housing Ltd., is administering the act under which the houses are being built by Victoria Housing Ltd.

Victoria Housing Ltd. is a company formed specifically to build the veterans' bungalows, and is headed by Victor L. Leigh.

The houses are rented to city veterans who hold an option on purchase of them. The houses are allotted by a "point system" in which the years of war service, family and overseas service are taken into consideration.

Mr. King Absent As Dominion Premiers Guests At Palace

LONDON (CP)—The King, speaking to Dominion Prime Ministers at a private dinner, said all regretted the absence of W. L. Mackenzie King, "whose unrivalled experience has always been of such great value at the council table."

His Majesty spoke at Buckingham Palace Wednesday night during a dinner for the Prime Ministers or their deputies. His remarks were made public Thursday night.

Canada was represented at the dinner by Norman Robertson, Canadian High Commissioner in London.

"Whatever outward form our Commonwealth may assume in the future, the principles which inspire it must prevail in the world," the King said.

"I am confident that in your coming deliberations you will work to this end."

TALKED WITH ATTLEE

Although still confined to bed in his Dorchester Hotel room, Mr. King remains busy.

Thursday he was visited by Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Sources said a range of subjects was covered in the conversation between the two Prime Ministers. Earlier Mr. King had talked with Louis St. Laurent, acting Prime Minister, immediately after the latter arrived from Ottawa by air.

St. Laurent has a suite on the same floor of the hotel and will be in immediate touch with the Prime Minister. Mr. King is in constant touch with High Commissioner Robertson and is able to see a few other visitors.

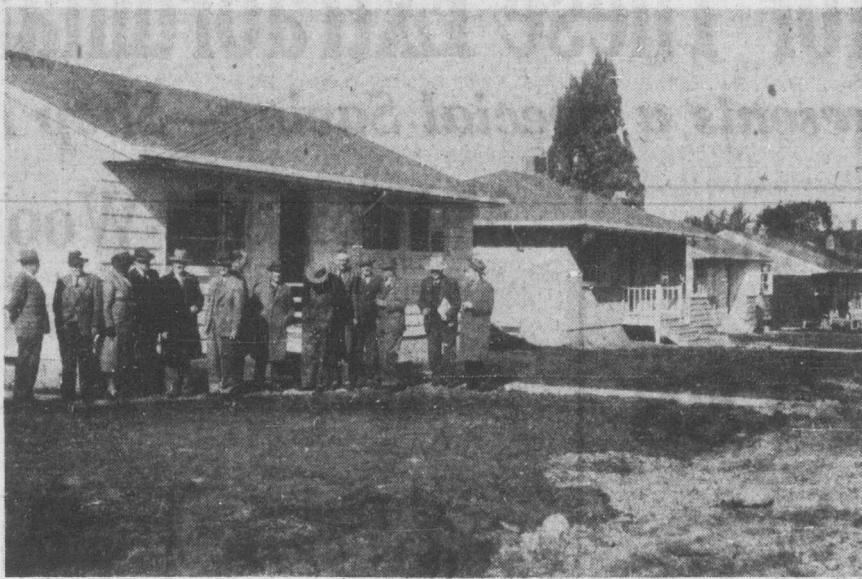

Management, Labor Must Work Together

Canada has attained a high place in the standing of world powers because both labor and capital in this country have worked together, P. E. Salter, field representative of the Dominion Department of Labor, told members of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Thursday night in the Hotel Douglas.

If Canada is to hold or improve her international position, even greater co-operation between workers and management must come about, he said.

Both labor and management have their own, necessary objectives, he noted. The objective of labor is security; the objective of management, profit. There must be real teamwork if these ends are to be met.

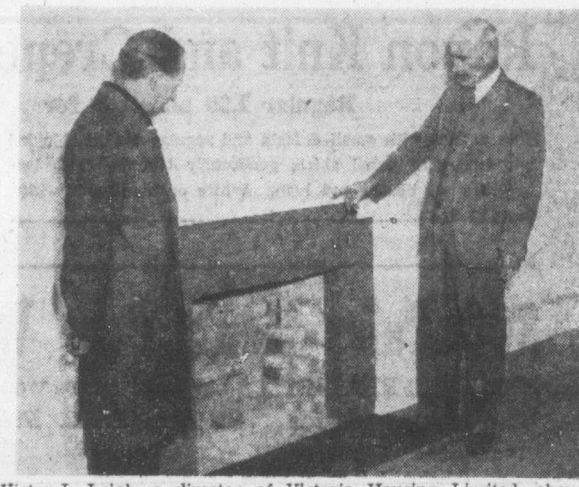

Mr. Salter explained the purpose of the Labor-Management Production Committee, and showed a National Film Board sound picture dealing with the committee's activities. The speaker was introduced by Brent Murdoch and was thanked by Jim Isaac.

It was moving day today for four Victoria veterans' families. They took possession of the first of 100 low-rent houses being built in the city by Victoria Housing Ltd. The houses, on Forbes Street between Denman and Bay Streets, were inspected earlier in the week by civic leaders and Canadian Legion officials.

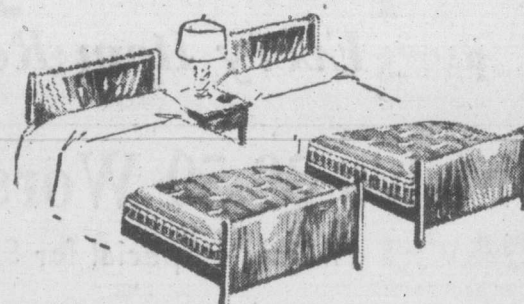

First to move into their new home today were Mr. and Mrs. Sid Jarvis who moved into 2310 Forbes Street. They and their two children have been living in two rooms, sharing a bathroom with six other adults, and up to a few months ago, had to carry water from a basement to their cramped second-story quarters.

Victor L. Leigh, a director of Victoria Housing Limited, shows Mayor Percy George an attractive fireplace which has been built in all wartime houses in the project. This is one of several features passed up in construction of veterans' houses in other parts of Canada.

Weakened Rangers Hold Canucks To Tie

The railbirds were full of dire predictions when an automobile accident left a trail of injuries across the New York Rangers camp.

But the railbirds got a big surprise last night when Rangers battled from behind to a 1 to 1 tie with Montreal Canadiens in the Montreal National Hockey League curtain-raiser.

It was a big night for rookie George Robertson. The 21-year-old Winnipegger, playing his first N.H.L. game, got his first N.H.L. score — Canadiens only goal.

The infant N.H.L. season cuts another tooth Saturday night when Boston Bruins invade Toronto and Canadiens play host to Chicago Black Hawks. In the first game of the season Wednesday, Detroit Red Wings beat Chicago 3 to 1.

It was a big night, too, for Chuck Rayner as he handled 31 shots on the New York nets. Bill Durnan had 14 fired at him.

Robertson scored at 3:01 of the first period by back-handing a pass from Elmer Lach past Rayner. Ed Kullman tied the score at 13:57 of the third when he scored after Nick Mickoski got the draw at a face-off near the Canadiens net.

Canadiens were left two men short briefly during the second period when Harmon and Chamberlain went off on penalties, but they were back at full strength before any harm was done.

Frank Eddolls, Edgar Laprade and Buddy O'Connor all were out of action as a result of the car accident. But the rest of the club was on the hustle all night. There was little cohesion in the New York attack, but there was plenty of fight.

SUMMARY
First Period—1, Montreal, Robertson (Lach), 3:01. Penalties: Modell, Richard, Reardon.
Second Period—No scoring. Penalties: Kullman, Harmon, Chamberlain (2), Joe, McKinnon.
Third Period—2, New York, Kullman (Mickoski), 13:57.

Three Clubs Still Willing To Play In Pro Cage Loop

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two operators of professional basketball clubs in the Pacific Coast pro loop circuit last night said they still were "raring to go" despite an announcement by league president Ray Clark of Portland, Ore., that plans for the 1948-49 season were off.

Clem McDonald, owner of the Vancouver Hornets, said he was willing to sponsor the Hornets again this year, and Dick Smith, boss of the Bellingham Firecrackers, said he was ready for action again.

Smith said Seattle Athletics, fourth team in the loop, also was ready to resume play this year. The two owners indicated the league would not fold if a fourth franchise could be found to replace the Portland entry.

Vic High Golds In Overtime Cage Win

Victoria High Golds edged Victoria High Blacks, 28 to 26, in the closest match on the three-game card in the interhigh junior boys' basketball league yesterday.

Other games saw Esquimalt trounce Mount Douglas, 41 to 10, and Central Junior High down Mount View, 35 to 21.

In the game between rival city squads, winners held a deciding 15 to 8 margin at the halfway mark, but Blacks succeeded in pulling the game out of the fire by the final whistle and teams ended up all square, 24-11.

In the five-minute overtime period, however, Golds outpointed losers, 4 to 2.

Barry Jackson led dockyarders to their convincing triumph over Mount Douglas, potting 14 points. Winners held a 23 to 4 lead at the breather.

are expected to provide stiff competition for Roy Barnes' crew, who will not be at full strength for the encounter. With centre half George Forbes out of action for possibly two or three months as a result of an injury suffered in Monday's game, Barnes announced that the back division will be reshuffled for the contest.

Barnes is unable to make the trip with the squad, and has named Gordie Bell to take his place, and the veteran will probably select his own starting line-up. However, Joe Travis will be between the posts, with Joe Robbins and probably Chick Newman in the fullback slots. Syd Robbins, other fullback, may be drafted to the centre half position, with Red McMillan on the right and Gordie Creed back in action on the left side.

Another change will see young Bill Boyd at centre half. Al Boyd is also making the trip. On the forward line, rookie Cedric Robb will be in the centre forward berth. Noel Morgan and Ab Travis will see action at left wing and left inside, respectively, while Andy Anderson will operate on the right wing. Bell himself will start at inside right, and Nip Sage will make the trip as a spare.

Opinions Differ On Adoption Of Metric System In Dominion

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO (CP)—Seasonal sob stories poured out by National Hockey League coaches receive scant sympathy from Canada's track and field and swimming fraternity. They, too, have a problem.

It is: Should Canada ditch the yard distances and adopt the metric system, used in all countries of Europe except Britain and also in the Olympic games? There's discussion about it from Montreal to Victoria.

Informal talk started after Canada's poor showing in the games and a ballot was conducted by the Canadian Press to find what Olympic officials and athletes think about it for Canada. They are split on the issue.

Some want it, others say the switch isn't necessary and a few favor a compromise—two years of yards-distances and two of metric.

Archie McKinnon, Olympic swim coach from Victoria, would like to see the A.A.U. adopt the metric system immediately, but Winnipeg's Ken Wynt, games track coach, says Canada should stick to yards distances.

Olympic track manager Fred Rowell of Vancouver proposes a two-year cycle—the metric system in preparation for the Olympics and yards for the British Empire games.

McKINNON IN FAVOR

McKinnon says Canadian records do not give a true comparison of an athlete's worth compared to metric times and that the metric scale should be used to condition athletes to the added distance required (9.4 yards in the 100) in the Olympics.

He found Canadian swimmers held their own, or surpassed the best from other countries, in the first half of each Olympic event this year, but "faded badly from lack of stamina."

YOST AGAINST

Yost wants the metric races "kept apart, and something special, to help symbolize the games" which he thinks are "wonderful."

He feels a changeover means little because "a good coach knows what distance he is grooming his runners for and governs himself accordingly."

Here's what others have to say: Roy Ashworth, Montreal, president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association: "I'm all for the change because when our kids go to the Olympics we are guessing on our times."

Ashworth and A. Sidney Dawes, Montreal, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, would like pools in Canada built in 25 or 30 metre lengths to conform to those in Europe. Dawes said he didn't know enough about track "to say anything."

Jim Worrall of Toronto, assistant general manager of the Olympic team, believes "we can't scrap one or the other completely—we should keep to both," and Prof. Nelson Hart of London, Ont., secretary of the C.O.A., figures a switch isn't worthwhile. "I don't think a change to the metric system would make any difference in the performance of our athletes."

ATHLETES SPEAK

Murray McNie of London, Ont., trainer of the Olympic track team, sided with Hart and pointed out that American athletes, trained under the yards system, dominated track and swimming in the games.

Athletes also had different views.

Swimmer Vivian King of Winnipeg thinks Canada should adopt the metric system to "simplify things" although she encountered no hardship in changing over to metres at the summer Olympics.

Don and Bob McFarlane, London, Ont., track stars, say they can train just as well under both systems. "If we're 'right' we can win under metres or yards."

Jack Hutchins, Vancouver sprinter, plumbs for a "little of each" to conform to metres in the Olympics and yards in the B.E. games.

Perhaps a solution will be found at the A.A.U. annual meeting in London, Ont., Nov. 18-20.

Revised Basketball Schedule Released

Oak Bay, Esquimalt In Soccer Game Tomorrow

Athletic Park will be the scene of tomorrow's senior soccer clash between Esquimalt and Oak Bay, starting at 2:30. Esquimalt, reputed to have one of the strongest squads in the circuit, handed Wests a 5 to 0 setback last week, while Bays played to a 3 to 3 deadlock with Legion in their first start.

Redshirts will have Wally Rowe between the uprights, and have a choice of four for the full-back slot, with Ken Druce, Hank Rowe, Rundle Carter and George Wyatt all ready for action. Half line will see Alf Armitage, Ed. Young and Doug Foreman. On

J.B.A.A. Plans To Regain Top Role In City Sports

President Campbell Says N.H.L. May Expand Schedule

DETROIT (AP)—Expansion of the National Hockey League's schedule to 70 games by next season, 35 at home for each of the six clubs and 35 on the road, is foreseen as a distinct possibility by N.H.L. president Clarence S. Campbell.

But there is no immediate prospect of enlarging the circuit to eight clubs.

Campbell, who came here for Wednesday night's opener in which Detroit beat Chicago 3 to 1, said that N.H.L.'s current 60-game schedule can be stepped up to 70 within limits of the 27-week season, and probably will be for next year if the Boston Garden and Madison Square Garden in New York will approve the additional dates.

"The other four arenas can be made available for five additional home games," Campbell said.

"But bookings for other attractions in Boston and New York make schedule expansion a problem there."

"I believe we will be able to arrange it, however, and the odds are that the league will play a 70-game schedule in 1949-50."

Campbell said that the N.H.L. would welcome additional arenas wherever adequate arenas seating upwards of 20,000 spectators become available in communities large enough in population to support a major league club.

Most logical prospects are St. Louis, which has a suitable arena; Los Angeles, which is taking over a 27-acre site to construct one, and Philadelphia, which lacks a suitable building, the president said.

Bays, Blacks Lead Grass Hockey Loop

Victoria High Blacks and Oak Bay High took over the joint leadership of the girls' interhigh grass hockey league yesterday as a result of decisive victories over Mount View and Mount Douglas, respectively.

Bays racked up a 5 to 0 decision over the Mount Doug girls, with Evelyn Slater counting four times and Julie Marshall netting the other.

Erla Hughes and Dot Fennell each notched two counters as Blacks undug Mount View, 5 to 1. Gladys Tingstad rounded out the score for Vic High, while Margaret Dunning saved Saanichton from being shut out.

Third game saw Esquimalt High down Vic High Golds, 1 to 0 on a goal by Josie Shaw. Winners held the majority of the play throughout the encounter, but could not break through to increase the margin.

Reduce Player Limit In Coast Ball Loop

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Player limits were reduced from 25 to 23 men by directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League Thursday. Three players on each team may be men who have not had a full season of triple "A" or major league status.

A total of 45 playing days will constitute a "full season" as far as the limitations are concerned, said league president Clarence Rowland.

Earlier, the directors approved transfer of Sacramento club stock from Oscar Salenger and Yubi Separovich to E. A. Sparks, George L. Klump, Harry J. Devine and Victor Devincenzi, all Sacramento residents.

James Bay Athletic Association, said to be the oldest athletic organization in continuous operation since its inception on the Pacific coast, is slated for a rejuvenation.

At a meeting of officials of the J.B.A.A. Thursday evening, groundwork was laid to revive the leading role of the group in B.C. sports circles.

The idea as presented by officials is to build the club up to the prominence held in years gone by when teams in numerous sports wore Bays' strip.

First, it was pointed out, it is necessary to revive the interest of former members and to inject new life into the organization.

PLAN BANQUET

Injection of the new life will start Nov. 18 when all ex-members and present members of J.B.A.A. athletic teams will be invited to a huge banquet at Colwood Golf Club.

There is no complete membership role available, but a ticket committee, under the chairmanship of R. L. "Bert" Buller, will endeavor to contact as many ex-Bays on the coast as possible.

There is only one condition for J.B.A.A. athletes attending the banquet—they must be 21. No further elaboration on this stipulation was made.

BIG JOB

Buller and his committee have a gigantic task. They will have to contact people from high governmental positions right down through almost every strata in every occupation, so widely distributed are ex-Bays.

The J.B.A.A., formed in the 1880s, has confined its athletic activities in recent years to English rugby, rowing and lacrosse.

However, there is hardly a sport that has not had the familiar blue and white Bays colors in evidence at one time or another.

FATHER AND SON

One of the interesting sidelights of the November banquet will be the presence of a number of father and son combinations. Several young men in the community have followed in their father's athletic footsteps and have worn or are wearing Bays' uniforms.

It is expected that more than 300 will be present at the banquet.

A certain amount of entertainment is planned, but officials feel that the reminiscences and swapping of tales of athletic prowess by those present will do more than the elaborate floor show to revive interest in the J.B.A.A. Buller has advised all ex-Bays to watch the press for further information regarding the get-together.

Mangrum Leads In Glendale Open Golf

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago knocked six strokes off par for a 66 to take the lead at the end of the first 18 holes Thursday in the inaugural $15,000 Glendale Open golf tournament.

With the favored Ben Hogan three strokes back, Mangrum put together a round of 36-30-66 for the Oakmont Country Club's par 36-36-72.

Hogan played near-flawless golf to shoot 35-34-69 and launch his usual solid bid for top money of $2,450.

Two shots back of Mangrum when the firing was over was Johnny Bulla, Phoenix, Ariz., with 34-34-68, while bracketed with Hogan in the 69s were Porky Oliver of Seattle with 35-34—and Zell Eaton of Montebello, Calif., with 33-36.

Intermediate Soccer

Tomorrow's games in the intermediate soccer loop follow: Saanich Indians vs. Eagles, at lower Beacon Hill; Douglas Tire vs. Oak Bay, at Hampton Park. Both games start at 2:30.

Seattle Trims Portland In Rough Coast Hockey Tilt

After trailing for the first period, San Diego buckled on its skates and rammed in five straight goals to cool visiting Los Angeles, 6 to 3, in a Pacific Coast League hockey game last night. There was hockey havoc at Portland, where the Seattle Ironmen trimmed the Portland Eagles, 4 to 2, in a game as warmly contested by the fans as by the players.

SUMMARY

First Period—1, Seattle, Collings (Thompson), 2:19. 2, Seattle, Kalapaka (Filion), 3:13. 3, Portland, Horvath, 5:14. Penalties: Evers, Tallifer, Stewchuck. Second Period—4, Portland, Baisagy (Robertson), 8:06. 5, Seattle, Shill, 11:00. Penalties: Layer, Evers, Kalapaka, Desbiens, Daiglish. Third Period—6, Seattle, Shill (Evers, Collings), 29. Vikings Boast Strong Squad For Rugby Debut

Victoria College Vikings will make their 1948-49 debut in the city senior rugby loop Saturday afternoon when they meet Canadian Scottish at Macdonald Park at 2.30.

The students, who this year are being coached by Scott Kerr, star forward with the powerful U.B.C. Thunderbirds fifteen for the past two seasons, boast a heavy scrum with plenty of speed in the backfield, especially on the wings.

Average weight of the pack is about 175 pounds. Kerr himself, who towers well over the six-foot marks and hits the scales at 200 pounds, will be tailup.

SOLID TEAM

The new Viking mentor states his team is solid all the way through.

"The club should be as good as a strong fifteen College had three years ago when all the veterans were at the school," Kerr added.

The student backfield will be made up of Ken Hurn, halfback; Gerry Main, stand-off; Roger Ross and Art Bridge, inside three; John Campbell, right wing; Fred Choat, left wing, and Dave Bryn-Jones, fullback.

Forwards will be Ron Alexander, McGregor Macintosh, (hook), and Pete Paterson, front row; Don Smyth and Bob Dunlop, breaks; John Murray, Ken Yeoman and Kerr, third rank.

Campbell Forbes' Canadian Scottish will be out for their second consecutive win, having defeated J.B.A.A. in the season's opener last Saturday.

Small Field To Oppose Citation For Gold Cup

NEW YORK (AP)—Entries close today for the Empire City Gold Cup, and, thanks to Citation, it looks like a small field of six horses for the $100,000 international gallop.

The second running of the one and 1/2-mile classic is set for tomorrow at Belmont Park. Two European horses and three from the United States probably will oppose the great Calumet Farm triple-crown champion.

Nathco, a grey English three-year-old owned by the Aga Khan, is a definite starter among the foreign contenders, and final word is expected during the day on the Belgian champion, Abyeux.

Other American horses besides Citation are Phalanx, Miss Grillo, and Drumbeat, with a remote chance Conniver might get another chance.

Final verdict on Bayeux, which suffered bruised hocks during his plane ride from Brussels earlier this week, will be given another light workout. The four-year-old colt is one of the finest distance runners in Europe.

"He's the record money-winner of our country," said trainer Albert Vandestene, "and that is about $57,000. But we don't run for big money like you do in this country, for our biggest Belgian purse is only around $7,000."

Change Of Referees For Lacrosse Final

TORONTO (CP)—A change in referees for the third game of the Canadian senior lacrosse championships between defending champions New Westminster Adanacs and Hamilton Tigers was announced Thursday by Lyle Barr of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association, who said both clubs protested the officiating.

"Officials said the referees allowed too much rough play," Barr said in an interview after the four-day annual meeting of the C.A.L.A.

He added, however, the C.A.L.A. "intended to alternate officials in the series and it is likely a change would have been made in any case."

Gus Marsden and Roy Morton, both of St. Catharines, Ont., replace George Murphy of Toronto and Max Peart of Port Colborne.

Tips On Golf Rules

By ROBERT FOULIS
Tip No. 28
SIZE AND DEPTH OF HOLE IMPORTANT

In a stroke competition one of the holes was not four inches deep. One of the players protested. The R. and A. sustained the protest that the entire competition should be replayed.

D. R. Forgan of the old firm of club makers Robert Forgan & Sons, St. Andrews, has this to say about golf:

"Golf is a science, the study of a lifetime, in which you may exhaust yourself but never your subject. It is a contest, a duel, or a melee, calling for courage, skill, strategy and self control. It is a test of temper, a trial of honor, a revealer of character. It affords the chance to play the man and act the gentleman. It means going into God's out-of-doors, getting close to nature, fresh air, exercise, a sweeping away of mental cobwebs, genuine recreation of the tired tissues. It is a cure for care, an antidote to worry. It includes companionship with friends, social intercourse, opportunities for courtesy, kindness and generosity to an opponent. It promotes not only physical health but moral force."

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—Although baseball cut into football interest for the last few weeks, the All-America professional football conference has had an average attendance of approximately 31,000 a game so far to the National League's 28,000. . . . At that rate nobody is getting rich. . . . Jack Onslow, new Chicago White Sox manager, already has tossed catcher Aaron Robinson on the trading block. Jack has hinted that he'd string along with young Ralph Weigel as first-string catcher if he could get new pitching or infield strength for Robbie.

SHORTS AND SHELLS
If Eric Tipton can get his release from the Dodgers' St. Paul farm, he can have a good minor league managerial job. . . . Floyd Collier, San Francisco's 49ers tackle, finally has found a use for his talents as a hypnotist. . . . Learning that teammate Veri Lillywhite was extremely ticklish (an unfortunate weakness for a footballer), Collier put him to sleep. Now, Floyd explains: "All I know is Veri ain't ticklish any more."

Dr. Miles said decision for his recommendation followed expressions of appreciation and enjoyment by those attending the show on Labor Day.

He said he felt some financial support for the project might be forthcoming from the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, which is keenly interested in the breeding of better horses throughout Canada.

The money will be used for presentation of gifts to visiting fraternal delegates and for purchasing identification badges for delegates.

Television Here In 3 To 4 Years, Says Radio Chief

Because a station in Seattle will start broadcasting television programs within a month or two, Victorians need not rush out and buy themselves television receiving sets, F. W. Radcliffe, vice-president of RCA Victor, told 50 of the company's dealers from all parts of Vancouver Island at a dinner Thursday night in the Empress Hotel.

"Seattle is too far away from Victoria for television reception to be any good here," he said. "Reception would be poor, if there was any at all."

The distance between Toronto and Buffalo, N.Y., is less than the distance between Victoria and Seattle, he said. And television broadcasts originating from Buffalo cannot be picked up in Toronto so it is very unlikely television broadcasting between Seattle and Victoria would be successful.

Victoria, however, in Mr. Radcliffe's opinion could very well have a television broadcasting station of its own.

"Wherever there is a population of 100,000 or more within a radius of between 35 and 40 miles, television station should prosper," he said.

Establishing a television station is simply a matter of getting a license and getting the station built, he said. "Getting the station built, however, is a reasonably big investment," he conceded.

Mr. Radcliffe prophesied it would be three or four years before Victoria had television broadcasts. "Television, when it does come, will not supplant radio but will supplement it," he said. "Few, if any, families want television to the exclusion of radios and phonographs. These three entertainment services complement each other so it cannot be supposed television is making progress at the expense of radio."

Ss. Princess Adelaide Ends Career

Crewman John Jorgensen and stevedore G. Harwood make fast bowline as the Princess Adelaide was moored at the C.P.R. docks this morning on completion of her last voyage.

A 38-year-old ship familiar to all British Columbians made her final run as a C.P.R. passenger steamer when she arrived in the Inner Harbor early this morning. She was the Princess Adelaide, veteran C.P.R. coastal passenger ship, which ended her services yesterday, between British Columbia mainland ports. She arrived here to be dismantled and to be eventually scrapped or sold.

As she pierced the morning fog she looked like a ghost ship rising from the deep. The mist rose from the ship revealing her black and white hull. Only a few workers and stevedores saw the old ship glide into her berth.

The 38-year-old vessel left Vancouver harbor yesterday following her arrival from Prince Rupert. On her way down from the northern port she picked up 125 passengers and 300 tons of cargo.

The crew was sad to see the old ship go. One seaman wrote a poem as a tribute to the ship which has served island and mainland ports faithfully for many years.

START STRIPPING

This morning the crew began stripping the ship of her furnishings. Tomorrow the crew will leave the vessel. She will remain tied-up pending decision relative to her disposal.

The Princess Adelaide was built in Scotland in 1910 at the famous Fairfield yards. She started service on this coast in 1911.

The ship is the second C.P.R. coastal vessel to come to such an end in the past 13 months. Ss. Princess Alice was the first ship to be taken off the active list. She is still moored at her berth in the Inner Harbor.

For many years the Adelaide ran between Victoria and Vancouver. She was later placed on the Prince Rupert and Ocean Falls run and became a familiar sight to the scattered ports along the rugged mainland coast.

C.P.R. officials reported the ship was taken out of service due to "exceptionally high" operating costs. The vessel was not equipped to carry automobiles.

The Adelaide was 290 feet long. She is of 3,000 tons, with a beam of 46 feet. The ship was capable of 16 knots.

Capt. J. A. Campbell was the last master to serve the ship. He sailed the vessel into port this morning.

"We are all sorry to see the old ship go," he said. "But if she must go, she must."

Capt. J. A. Campbell, last to command Princess Adelaide, said as he signalled "stop" on the ship's telegraph to the engineers below decks, "We hate to see her go."

$36,175 Subscribed To Community Chest, Drive In High Gear

Subscriptions to the Community Chest campaign have reached $36,174, Dave Decker, chest secretary, announced at noon today from campaign headquarters in Prince Rupert House.

Objective of the campaign, which opened Oct. 4, is $180,000. Money raised by the drive will be used for the support and operation of 21 social and welfare agencies in Greater Victoria during 1949.

More preparatory work is being done in connection with this year's campaign than ever before. Work to date has been mostly preparatory. Canvassers have barely touched their districts as yet, Mr. Decker said.

"The campaign has been gaining momentum. It will be rolling from now on," the secretary said.

Seeks Retention Of Rental Control

Retention of rental controls until the present housing shortage is eased, was sought in a resolution adopted by the Windsor city council, a copy of which has been received by M. F. Hunter, city clerk today, to be presented to the Victoria city council.

In the preamble the resolution stated strong indication had been given that in the near future "the federal government intends to relinquish domestic rental controls."

"With the present serious shortage of rental accommodation in most large cities of Canada this will entail extreme hardships for many of our citizens."

Ottawa Officials Here On Tour Of R.C.A.F. Stations

A group of senior Dominion government officials, headed by B. B. Campbell, assistant deputy defence minister, are now in Victoria in the course of a 12,000 mile tour of Royal Canadian Air Force establishments.

Mr. Campbell, who arrived with his inspection party at Patricia Bay airport Thursday evening, said the visit is only part of a routine tour and has nothing to do with Defence Minister Claxton's recent "prepare for war" speech.

"We do not anticipate any trouble that I know of, but we are doing our best to be prepared," Mr. Campbell said. He is quite satisfied so far with the R.C.A.F. stations he has visited and classes their efficiency as "very good."

From here, the Ottawa visitors in the next few days will visit R.C.A.F. stations at Patricia Bay, Comox, Port Hardy and Tofino. Traveling in an R.C.A.F. Dakota, they have already visited airports in Labrador and northern Canada, and their calls have included Churchill, Edmonton, Whitehorse, Fort Nelson and Prince George.

On completion of the inspection here, the party will return across the southern part of Canada, visiting airports located in that section of the Dominion.

Included in the group are: Group Captain D. S. Blaine, director of service requirements, Air Force headquarters; J. C. Allen of the finance department's treasury board; R. A. S. Fraser, chief of shipbuilding and construction for the Canadian Commercial Corporation of the Trade and Commerce departments; Wing Cmdr. H. B. Long of maintenance command headquarters; Flt.-Lt. L. P. Patenaude of the Transport Department's air service.

The Canadian Youth Hostel Association have a roller skating party planned for Saturday evening at 7:30 at the Douglas Roller Gardens.

Thirty-three awards will be made. University entrance scholarships already have been presented.

The scholarships to be awarded at the assembly are worth more than $2,500. The presentations will be made by Prof. J. A. Cunningham, vice-principal of the college.

The assembly will take place in the college auditorium on Richmond Road and opening remarks will be given by J. B. Clearihue, K.C., chairman of the college council. An address by Dr. J. M. Ewing, principal, will follow. The University of B.C. will be represented at the function which will include a musical program.

TOP WINNERS

In addition to the scholarships, book and slide-rule prizes to be given, is a wrist watch which Miss Sally Woods will receive as leader of the school last year. She will receive a scholarship as well.

Leading student of second-year, Myles F. Beale, will be presented the most valuable scholarship—one for $250 awarded by the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co.

On the day following the assembly, annual "open house" will be held at the institution when parents and friends will be given an opportunity to visit classrooms, inspect laboratories, and visit the grounds of the school. The "open house" will be from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and refreshments will be served. Members of the faculty will be on hand to meet visitors.

Mr. J. P. Simon, vice-president of the United Nations' Association Victoria Branch, will act as chairman temporarily in place of Lt.-Cmdr. J. Langlois who resigned on entering the Department of External Affairs at Ottawa.

Britain's Trade Improving, Says U.K. High Commissioner

Britain has made great strides in international trade this year and is beginning to see daylight ahead on the economic front, providing the present political tension can be kept within bounds, according to Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, British High Commissioner to Canada, who arrived in Victoria today.

Although Sir Alexander, in an interview this morning, drew a picture of high commodity prices and some difficulties of trade, he was on the whole quite optimistic as to his country's future.

He has great praise for trade relations between Canada and Britain and credits Canada as the only country which tried to keep her prices down at a time when the United Kingdom was being harried by a rise in import prices. Sir Alexander pointed out some of the difficulties. Britain now has to pay nearly three times as much as prewar for her imports, and has never been able to catch up on these prices on her export prices which are now only about two and one-quarter times as much as before the war.

RISE IN IMPORT PRICES

Even in 1948, Sir Alexander said, import prices rose 10 per cent, whereas her export prices only rose 3 per cent.

However, he continued, Britain feels this is not a position that can be continued indefinitely and is looking for a drop in prices as the world gets further along the road to recovery.

He agreed that the present political tension is affecting the economic picture. One effect, he said, is that the tension is causing a diversion of men and resources to defence needs instead of their being employed on peacetime requirements. The other is that the tension is undermining confidence in the world and making it more difficult to build up mutual trust which is essential for economic recovery as well as for political stability.

However, despite all this, Sir Alexander reported that Britain has made great strides this year towards solution of her trade problems.

Her export trade is recovering very well and is now at a stage where it is half again as much as prewar.

CANADA BRITAIN'S HOPE

Britain has great hope for her export to Canada which is being given No. 1 priority, Sir Alexander says.

SIR ALEXANDER CLUTTERBUCK

Last year, he pointed out, Britain exported $160,000,000 in goods to Canada. By the end of this year, she should have reached her target of $280,000,000 export in goods to this country, and next year she hopes it will be well over $300,000,000, with each following year showing even more improvement.

"We are determined to come into this market to stay," Sir Alexander said, and pointed out that the more Britain is able to export to Canada, the more she can buy from this country. "This two-way trade is very much in the mutual interests of both countries," he said.

Sir Alexander also hoped that the prices of Britain's manufactured goods could come down, but added this would depend on a drop in the price of raw materials.

OUTPUT HIGHER

Questioned as to the establishment of Britain's industry, he answered that his country's industrial output is now one-quarter higher than prewar and is still rising.

Sir Alexander addressed a joint luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club and Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the Empress Hotel today and will speak again this evening at a meeting of the United Services Institution.

He was met on his arrival from the mainland by Walter S. Miles, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce; Lt.-Col. J. Nelson Gibson, secretary of the Canadian Club, and Maj.-Gen. H. F. H. Hertzberg, representing the United Services Institution.

Saturday Sir Alexander will go to Duncan to visit Fairbridge Farm School.

Sidney 278Mrs. F. D. R. Replies
To Russian Attack

PARIS (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said Thursday "lynching in the United States is deplorable, but it is against the law" and exceptional.

She replied to a Russian attack in the United Nations' social committee against "the practice of lynching" in the southern United States.

Alexei Pavlov, a bearded Russian professor, had urged the committee to adopt a Russian amendment to a draft declaration of human rights. The amendment would make governments responsible for "the protection of each individual against criminal attempts on his person."

On other topics, Pavlov quoted the late Senator Hattie Caraway (Dem.-Ark.) as saying that during the depression of the early 1930s some 1,000 Americans died yearly from hunger and malnutrition.

"This gentleman's statement," said Pavlov, showed the need for world-wide measures to lessen the danger of death by hunger.

Replied Mrs. Roosevelt: "On one little detail, the Soviet delegate was not quite prepared. Senator Caraway was not a 'gentleman.' He was a lady."

R.A.F. To Use Falcons

LONDON (AP)—The Air Ministry, noting that birds caused 13 plane accidents on British airfields last year, announced Thursday that the Royal Air Force had bought 15 falcons and trained six men as falconers in hopes of keeping birds out of the R.A.F.'s air.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITEDAction On Freight Rates
Partial Victory For B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's controversial freight rate issue is back in the lap of the Board of Transport Commissioners, from where it emerged last March in the form of a 21 per cent increase.

In a decision which appeared partially to meet provincial objections to the March boost, but falling short of being a clear-cut victory, the cabinet Thursday instructed the six transport commissioners to:

1. Review the 21 per cent increase.
2. Consider provincial complaints and increased railway revenue from higher international and competitive freight rates.
3. Relate any revision of the March order to its decision on a subsequent application by the railways for an interim increase in rates of 15 per cent to be considered in January.

PREMIERS' STATEMENTS

Commenting on the cabinet's decision, Premier Manning of Alberta described the order-in-council as "wholly unsatisfactory." Attorney-General Gordon Wismer of British Columbia said the provinces had won a "partial victory" in their fight against increased freight rates. Premier McNair of New Brunswick said the order-in-council "confirmed in substantial measure" the position of the seven provinces opposing freight rate increases.

The cabinet's instruction that "any revision" of the last increase should be made in conjunction with the subsequent application appeared to mean that the 21 per cent jump would, in effect, stand. Scaling it downward would apparently take the form of disallowing or reducing the application for another 15 per cent.

The railways have applied for a 20 per cent increase in rates in addition to the March raise allowed them. The application for 15 per cent is merely an interim request until the permanent one is considered.

The cabinet stated in its order-in-council that the arguments of the provinces dealing with the basis of the March award had favorably impressed them. The essence of the provincial contention was that the board should have made the railways draw on non-railway earnings to meet fixed charges, income taxes and dividends and that these could not properly be regarded as a charge solely against railway operations.

The appeal by the seven provinces—Quebec and Ontario did not join—was heard three weeks ago. Earlier the cabinet had, in response to provincial objections to the March award, ordered a full inquiry into freight rate structures by the Transport Board and announced it would appoint a royal commission to study transport problems generally.

HOTELS, SHIPS, TELEGRAPHS

The transport commissioners' March decision excluded non-railway earnings of the lines from its consideration of their financial requirements.

The order-in-council released Thursday said the government considered income from non-railway sources should not be entirely excluded.

It instructed the transport commissioners to study the problem and decide what portion of fixed charges, income taxes, depreciation and dividends should come from these non-railway revenues. They are derived from telegraphs, hotels, shipping and other operations.

Five Bombers, 75 Fighters To Be Alaska's Air Defence This Winter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States' air defence in Alaska this winter apparently will consist only of five bombers and one group of about 75 fighters.

Down at the other side of the American defence perimeter—the Panama Canal zone—three presently is no organized air combat unit.

This came to light today in connection with an air force announcement that three five-plane flights of the new B-50 bombers will rotate on training missions in Alaska between Nov. 1 and March 15. Under this program, only five of the bombers will be in the area at any one time.

The only other combat unit in the polar frontier sector is the fighter group regularly stationed there. However, air defence planning is based on the idea that both fighters and bombers could be flown to Alaska quickly if a sudden military menace should develop.

The forthcoming missions of the B-50s will be the first such bombers have made in organized units to any point outside the United States.

The B-50 is a radically-changed version of the wartime B-29. It has a top speed of 400 miles an hour, a 10-ton bomb capacity and, the air force says, can reach targets "over 2,300 miles" from the take-off point.

TESTS STILL TO COME

While B-50s have been in use by the air force for several months, they never have been flown under Arctic conditions. This, said the air force, is the purpose of the training missions to Alaska.

Air force officials told a reporter they are unable to discuss future plans for air defence of the Panama Canal. But available information shows that no fighter, bomber or troop-carrier units now are based in the Canal Zone.

However a report to Congress in February by a high-ranking group of military and atomic energy experts said the canal would be vulnerable to attack by modern weapons regardless of how many bases the United States maintained for its defence.

No City Manager For Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Suggestions for a city manager or board of control for Vancouver were vetoed Thursday by the municipal government of the city council.

Acting mayor George Miller indicated no radical changes would be made in Vancouver's city governmental form while he is in office.

A proposal that met with some favor called for council appointment of two of its members as "full-time aldermen," with higher indemnities to pay for handling routine and heavy committee work on a full time basis.

The plan would be introduced on a trial basis, but no decision was reached at the meeting.

Going Steady... with British Columbia

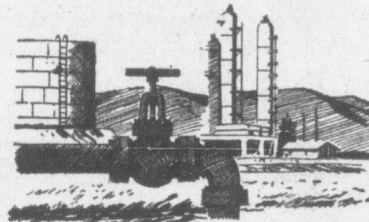

THINK of British Columbia's great lumbering, mining and fishing industries, and you'll see that our province is blessed with all the natural resources but one. As yet no productive source of oil has been found. There is, however, a great demand for petroleum products in B.C.; in fact, industry literally rolls on oil.

CRUDE oil is brought to Stanovan, Standard of B.C.'s refinery on Burrard Inlet, by tanker from the world's most economical sources of supply. The alternative would be to bring in refined products... but refining the crude oil in the province makes jobs in, and produces buying power for, British Columbia.

PETROLEUM products are made at Stanovan for British Columbians by British Columbia engineers and skilled workers. B.C. has an important industry which materially benefits the province as a whole—the refining of crude oil into gasoline and a long list of useful by-products including bitumens and asphalts.

THE story of the oil industry is one of venture-capital at work, creating the products people want, selling them in open competition with other companies. We believe that this system offers the greatest incentives, the highest standards of living, the best job-security and individual freedom of opportunity.

Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited

This series is presented by the people of Standard of B.C. and our associates, the independent Chevron Dealers, to discuss the part we play in the development of British Columbia, and our faith in the future of this province under the free opportunity system. Please send your suggestions or criticisms to: President, Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited, Marine Building, Vancouver, B.C.

Negro Acquitted On Murder Charge At Halifax Trial

HALIFAX (CP)—An assize court jury Thursday night acquitted Victor Robert, 32-year-old Halifax negro, of the June 2 murder of an attractive Scottish war bride.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating two hours and four minutes. Loud cheers and clapping from the overcrowded courtroom drowned out the foreman and the judge.

A faint smile broke across Robert's face as he stood erect in the prisoners' dock.

Robert was charged with slaying Mrs. Maureen MacDonald.

Mrs. MacDonald, clad only in a jacket sweater, was found June 2 in a litter-strewn waterfront yard badly beaten about the face. She died before arriving at a hospital.

Robert continued to display the coolness exhibited throughout the three days of the trial as he walked out of the courtroom. He shook hands with his lawyer, Abe Sheffman, and his mother told the lawyer: "I don't know how to thank you."

LAWYER EXHAUSTED

It was the first Supreme Court case for Mr. Sheffman, 23-year-old Newfoundland-born lawyer who graduated from the Dalhousie Law School here in 1946. He was almost exhausted after taking three hours and 11 minutes to present his case to the jury.

Analyzing the evidence of all witnesses, Mr. Sheffman startled the courtroom by saying "it could have been a colossal and tremendously involved frame-up."

Then he submitted a re-enactment of the crime later termed "fantastic" by Crown Prosecutor R. M. Field and by Mr. Justice John Doull in his charge to the jury.

The Crown held that Mrs. MacDonald had been dragged from a house near the waterfront where she had been sleeping and beaten to death.

Witnesses told of a drinking bout in the Water Street house and said they had seen a man beating Mrs. MacDonald in the kitchen and drag her from the house.

Woman, 87, Offers Answer In Court To World Tension

An 87-year-old woman offered in Saanich police court Thursday a suggestion to solve the current tense world situation.

Charged with keeping a dog that had bitten a little girl, aged five, the woman, observing witnesses being sworn in, commented, "If more people would read the Bible instead of kissing it, there would not be all this trouble in the world."

Being almost stone deaf, the woman caused the court some trouble.

Prosecutor C. L. Harrison and Magistrate H. C. Hall had to shout questions, but had difficulty keeping the woman to the answers as she stoutly announced she was unafraid of all the policemen around, adding that her deceased husband had been one.

She denied knowledge of the biting incident, and when asked what she intended to do about the dog, stated she had kept it tied up for two or three months. "What do you expect me to do," she exclaimed, pointing her walking stick around the room, "how many of there are you here? I'm surrounded. It's prosecution and persecution."

The court decided to advise her to keep the dog tied up or it would be impounded.

Yoshida Again To Be Premier Of Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Shigeru Yoshida has been chosen Premier of Japan for the second time since the occupation.

The ultra-Conservative leader of the Democratic-Liberal Party was elected Thursday night by the House of Representatives, 185 to 1.

The upper house of councillors already had designated Yoshida, but the House of Representatives had the final word.

Yoshida will succeed Hotshu Ashida, whose cabinet resigned last week after arrest of one of its members in a government loan investigation.

"The One That Got Away" —

WELL NOW... we really SHOULD... have won 1st prize, like here yesterday... I did advertise. But alas... on that Derby day, "ours" the fish... was for'd, her line to port, and the rain in her lap... about a quart. The cylinder top... she was a patin', warming her hands... on the "Briggs-n-Stratton." And close to the muffler, she had her feet, in that open boat... with the very wet seat. "Have more coffee?" "Yes... thanks," I said, "you're sure a SIGHT with THAT" on your head. And the rain came down, and bounced back up, I gotta re-fill... in my coffee-cup.

COME & SEE US... won't you, in the "HOLLYWOOD (FLAT-ter) HOME... on Oak Street... come to-night, and see how we can st-ir-et-eh YOUR cash.

"HERE," she said, "BE a good fellow, for Jupiter's sake, use this umbrella. What's the diff? WHAT they think, if this deluge doesn't end... mon-soon we'll sink. It spurts, it jets... we'll be awash, a cascade, a Niagara... Oh-My-Gosh." So I took the thing... just to please, "but I'll only use it... over my knees." Then my reel, went under this cover, then dear to the heart... of EVERY fish-lover. We heard that whizzzzzz, both gave a shout, as the line... went spinning out.

THE LIVE-IN room of this FLAT-ter Home, we've fixed up with the NEW trend in Chesterfields... the price will starve you.

IT WAS such a sur-PRIZE... such a shock, that I acted like... a silly gawk. I grabbed the reel... as the line sped, while holding the umbrella... o'er my head. "Shut off the engine... short that plug, what a draught... WHAT a pull... WHAT a war-of-tug." "Here," she hollered, "U silly goot" & grabbed away... her bumper-shoot. I kicked the rudder, too slow a turn, in braking the line... my fingers did burn. "Reel in YOURS," I frantically cried, "already I think... they're hopelessly tied."

YOU'RE CONNA like the way we've done the bedrooms and den in this Hollywood Home... done it purposely... so U can take it with you.

I GLANCED at the reel, just a few yards to go, still... no let-up... on that tow. And all was confusion with the crew, she had NO IDEA... what to do. And ST-ILL that fish, wouldn't turn, I just HAD to let go... smoke from the burn. ONE YARD LEFT... the moment had come, 'twas the very end... of that spinning drum. Where it was tied (what STRENGTH I could feel), I let go the rod, but hung on to the reel. Nuthin' happened for a moment or so, but I KNEW something... would HAVE to go. If only he'd turn, make a twist, I'd regain some line... with my wrist. WHAT a contest, WHAT a battle, that Coho was headin'... for Seattle. Then the climax, WAS I DISGUSTED, 'cause I knew SOMEWHERE... the line had busted.

Drive out Douglas to Cloverdale, turn left on Oak Street. You'll see the crowds.

"WHAT'S HAPPENED DEAR??... ah... THAT'S not fair," then suddenly leaped... high in the air. Our winning opponent, 40 lbs. he would be, & we KNEW IT WAS OURS, because you see. He was right beside, as he twisted high, to prove it to us... with OUR buck-tail fly. And the rain came down, here I'll end & say, he was (— THAT B-I-G —) THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY.

British Liberals Lay Plans To Fight Election In 1950

LONDON (Reuter)—Britain's once-powerful Liberal Party, which now has only 12 members of Parliament out of a total of 640, is making spirited plans for fighting the 1950 general election.

In an atmosphere of revival, the party—whose decline since the great days of the premierships of Lloyd George and H. H. Asquith has saddened even some of its political opponents—is launching an appeal for £100,000 ($400,000) to finance its attempted comeback. The party announced Friday that it will put 300 candidates in the field to contest the 1950 election.

Main points in the party's program are:

1. "Both Socialists and Conservatives represent privilege and class interest. The Liberal Party equally fights both."

2. On world affairs the ultimate Liberal goal is world government.

3. Liberals want fewer colonies and more Dominions in the Commonwealth—"the greatest institution in the world for maintaining democracy, defending freedom, providing mutual aid and furthering peace."

4. With world trade, the party would initiate a program to liquidate British protective duties, fully support the International Trade Organization, and promote the substitution of multi-lateral for bilateral trading.

5. On home affairs the party states enterprise must be encouraged, government expenditure reduced, taxation revised, and monopolies broken.

Betty Grable Gives Girls Advice On How To Take Off Weight

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The gal with the most famous figure in the world tells how to save yours: Dance!

"I've found the best way to take off weight is to dance," said Betty Grable, "The Beautiful Blonde From Bashful Bend." No catch phrase that but the name of her current film.

"About 10 years ago I started putting on a little weight in places, because I hadn't been dancing. So I took a few acrobatic lessons and the poundage came off in no time."

Betty assured that any kind of dancing will help.

"It's important to start dancing when you're young," she added. "I began taking four lessons a week when I was five. It helps you in more ways than just your figure. Dancing gives you grace. Because I started it early, I never went through the awkward age."

As for dieting, Betty said she doesn't do much.

"If I get a bit heavy, I can stop eating for two days and the weight goes down immediately."

The girl who puts on Betty's makeup has this commentary on the famed frame. "Everyone talks about Betty's figure," she said, "but no one mentions her feet. She's got perfect feet."

Now I'll bet that's something you've never noticed.

Britain To Boycott Ben Hecht Movies

LONDON (AP)—British film exhibitors have decided to boycott the work of Ben Hecht, U.S. writer-producer, because of what they term his anti-British attitude on the Palestine question.

The Cinema Exhibitors' Association, representing nearly 5,000 movie houses adopted a resolution this week asking film distributors to "withdraw from circulation in Britain any films with which Hecht was associated."

Not Now With K.K.K.

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Rev. Alton Milford Young, former pastor of the North Baptist Church here, who described himself as Past National Chaplain of the Klu Klux Klan, said Wednesday night he would be confirmed as a Roman Catholic next Sunday.

RIO THEATRE

"Able's Irish Rose" is being shown today at the Rio Theatre through United Artists release. As a play on Broadway, "Able's Irish Rose" was a popular favorite of theatre-goers who gave it a run of more than 2,000 performances, a record, which stood until "Tobacco Road" came along. As a radio serial, it thrilled millions with the hilarious, heart-warming adventures of Able and his spirited colleen. Now, as a motion picture, presented by Bing Crosby Producers Inc., "Able's Irish Rose" promise to garnish new laurels.

'Temptation Harbor' On Dominion Screen

From his signal box in a harbor on the English Channel, a signalman (Robert Newton) observes two men fighting for possession of a suitcase. One is knocked into the water and the other runs away. The signalman fails to rescue the victim, but recovers the suitcase, which is full of banknotes. It would bring security and happiness to his motherless daughter and would win him the girl with whom he is in love. After an inner struggle he decides to escape with his daughter and sweetheart, but in a series of exciting events he learns the lesson that one may run away from justice, but never from one's conscience.

Filled with the fascinating atmosphere of the docks with its medley of trains, ships and cosmopolitan travelers, "Temptation Harbor" attempts to give true-to-life answer, and is now being shown at the Dominion Theatre.

ROYAL THEATRE

Edmund Gwenn, winner of an Academy Award for his performance in "Miracle on 34th Street," and currently starring in the new Twentieth Century-Fox Technicolor hit "Apartment for Peggy," now at the Royal Theatre, first appeared on the stage 52 years ago. But it was when he launched his screen career in 1922 that his knowledge of acting took a big leap.

Says Gwenn: "On the stage you have to take the critics' word for what is wrong with your acting. Even your best friends are reluctant to criticize or to offer advice. But when you see yourself on the stark, relentless screen you can pick out your own mistakes and resolve there will be no repetition."

YORK THEATRE

For Columbia's "Down to Earth," starring Rita Hayworth and Larry Parks at the York Theatre, technicians devised an intricate irrigation system to keep the greenery alive on the huge Gramercy Park set. Usually shrubs, trees and flowers appear forlorn after a few hours under the hot glare of Technicolor lights on indoor sets, but in this instance, an extensive pipeline sprinkler system kept the shrubbery perky for days.

PLAZA THEATRE

George Cleveland is going to celebrate two milestones in his career by taking a voyage to Hawaii soon.

The veteran character player is observing his 45th anniversary of acting and his 150th screen role in Universal's "Wild Beauty," now at the Plaza Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Judy Garland, singing and dancing with Fred Astaire for the first time in Irving Berlin's "Easter Parade," now at the Capitol Theatre, was born in Grand Rapids, Mich. She came to the screen after graduating from a vaudeville "sister act" and won M-G-M stardom in "Broadway Melody of 1938." Her popularity zoomed with her appearance with Mickey Rooney in some of the earlier Hardy Family pictures as well as subsequent musicals. Her latest pictures were "The Pirate," "Till the Clouds Roll By" and "The Harvey Girls."

ODEON THEATRE

J. Arthur Rank's presentation of Charles Dickens' immortal story of "Oliver Twist" is now showing at the Odeon Theatre. Cast in the title role is John Howard Davies, an eight-year-old newcomer to the screen. Co-starring with him are Alec Guinness as Fagin, Anthony Newley as the Artful Dodger, Robert Newton as Bill Sykes and Kay Walsh as Nancy.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Twenty-four professional croupiers and dealers, brought to Hollywood from Las Vegas gambling houses, and 160 dress extras, people the lavish gambling casino in Columbia's thrilling modern melodrama, "Johnny O'Clock." The professionals operated roulette wheels, dice tables and chemin de fer layouts on the set, the most expensive constructed by the studio since the lifting of wartime restrictions. The film, now playing at the Oak Bay Theatre, co-stars Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes.

ATLAS THEATRE

All Hollywood has been raving over the art direction of Warner Bros.' brilliant Technicolor musical, "Romance on the High Seas," which is booked at the Atlas Theatre today. Anton Grot designed and created the stunning pastel shades which highlight this production. A hotel scene set in Havana is done entirely in "technicolor white," which strikes a new high in quality coloring. Thus facial expressions and costumes are given more accent on the screen.
